B52s Stage 5 Raids On South Viet Targets

U.S. Jets Bomb Hanoi Rail Lines And Down 3 Red MIG Interceptors

SAIGON (AP) — American jets probed deep into the fortified heartland of North Vietnam Monday, bombing rail lines into Hanoi and drawing out a swarm of Communist Mig interceptors. Three of the MIGs were reported shot down.

Although little ground fighting was reported, the airmen carried the war to the Communists with 113 strike missions over North Vietnam and five raids by giant B52 bombers against targets in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced that Red ground gunners shot down a Navy Crusader jet over North Vietnam, the 572nd U.S. combat plane lost above the 17th Parallel. The pilot was missing.

The Communists sent up 20 or more swept-wing MIG21s and MIG17s in an unsuccessful attempt to disrupt the raids on the rail line leading north from Hanoi to the industrial complex of Thai Nguyen.

Within 20 minutes American Phantom jet pilots brought three MIG17s down. A spokesman said that flights of the Red fighters were buzzing all over the sky and it was impossible to determine how many were in the air.

Dogfights have now accounted for 77 MIGs downed while 20 U.S. planes have been shot down.

The big B52s, each carrying 60,000 pounds of bombs, hit the western borders of South Vietnam, along routes where the Ho Chi Minh trail disgorges infiltrators into jungle hideouts. Two of the raids were in the northern sector, two in the central highlands and one along the Cambodian frontier west of Saigon.

In coastal Binh Dinh Province, a raging fire at an Army support airfield damaged a number of helicopters and light planes and destroyed a vast amount of stores before it was brought under control. One American serviceman was killed and two injured, and an unknown number of Vietnamese also were injured.

The fire raged for 7½ hours before it was extinguished by base firefighters, engineers and infantrymen pressed into service. Bulldozers had to come in to force a path through burning plywood, rations and oil drums.

The cause of the fire was not known. One possibility being investigated was that a flare dropped from a circling plane — a routine occurrence over most U.S. airfields each night — might have still been burning when it hit the supply area.

Nuclear Or Not Remains Question At Shippingport

Whether or not a new 800,000-kilowatt power plant at Duquesne Light Co.'s Shippingport atomic power installation will be nuclear has not yet been decided, Duquesne officials reported.

The turbine generator for the new facility has been ordered from the Westinghouse Electric Corp. for delivery in 1973.

Officials are pondering whether the new plant should be coal-fired, pumped hydro or nuclear, although in some quarters it has been indicated the latter would be likeliest.

The turbine order was placed, it was explained, so that Duquesne could get in line in the rapidly mounting order backlog for nuclear generating equipment.

The order is cancellable for a year if conditions don't warrant continuation with plans for the facility.

The pioneer nuclear plant at Shippingport began operations in 1957, marking a new era of atomic power just 15 years after the historical first nuclear fission test.

Construction had been started in September 1954 on the project, a joint effort by Duquesne, Westinghouse and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Nuclear fission is used to heat water into steam to drive a generator for producing electricity.

A Duquesne spokesman said the Shippingport project is a long range program on which details have not yet been planned, and the size and timing of the plant addition will depend on the area demand.

U.S. Astronaut Givens Killed In Car Crash

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Astronaut Edward G. Givens Jr. died early today when his compact car went off a road into an embankment a few miles from the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Space agency officials said Air Force Maj. Givens, 37, one of the 19 astronauts named in 1966, was dead on arrival at a Houston hospital.

Two companions, Air Force majors, were injured.

A spokesman said the accident occurred shortly after midnight near Pearland, a small town south of Houston.

Police reported that Givens apparently lost control of his 1964 model foreign automobile at a sharp turn.

Soviet Goal Seen Quick End To War

U.S. Assessment Made Following Discussions At UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Official U.S. sources say despite Moscow's public condemnation of Israel and avowed support of the Arabs, the Soviets apparently want a quick end to the Middle East war.

This was about the brightest spot today in an otherwise dark picture as the U.S. government pushed for a speedy cease-fire after it eased away from one official's use of the term neutral and wound up as a self-proclaimed non-belligerent.

The official sources said their rating of Kremlin intentions came from behind-the-scenes discussions with Soviet diplomats and others at the U.N. Security Council over rival proposals for a cease-fire in the day-old conflict.

The assessment eased fears the Middle East flames would quickly ignite a major power conflagration. But the Arab-Israeli firefight itself posed serious problems for the United States.

President Johnson was expected to discuss them with Democratic leaders and with his secretaries of state and defense at scheduled meetings today.

At the State Department, lights were on all night as officials scanned reeports from the conflict area and worked on such problems as:

— How to evacuate, by civilian transport if possible, those of the 44,000 Americans in the 14-nation danger zone who want to get out.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk accused Cairo today of malicious lying in its report of U.S. air activity on the Israeli side in the Mideast war.

Strike Stops All Work At Toronto Plant

TORONTO — A strike of 64 processing department salaried employes has caused a complete work stoppage at the Titanium Metals, Inc., plant here.

The white-collar workers had been negotiating with company officials over wages since the union election in April at which time the United Steel Workers Union was chosen as official bargaining agent for the 64 office employes. This action was approved later by the National Labor Relations Board.

Monday, the final in a series of seven meetings between workers and company officials was held, at which time the employes rejected the company's final offer.

A strike was called and picketing began, with the firm's other 1,200 employes honoring picket lines.

No further negotiating sessions have been planned at present, it was reported.

Egyptian Fire Kills U.S. Photographer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An American news photographer, Paul Schutzer of Life magazine, was killed early today when Egyptian fire hit the Israeli halftrack on which he was riding, Israeli army sources reported. He was the first newsman killed in the new Arab-Israeli war.

Schutzer, 35, lived in New Rochelle, N.Y. with his wife and their two children.

Diplomats Hope U.S., Soviet OK Cease-Fire Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats are hopeful that the Soviet Union and the United States can agree on the text of a resolution by which the U.N. Security Council could call unanimously for cease-fire and withdrawal in the Middle East war.

The informants said Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg were pledged to negotiate in advance of today's meetings.

They said the two had promised to seek instructions from their governments that might enable them to settle the remaining issue—the point to which the fighting forces should withdraw.

The two big powers were still deadlocked when the council adjourned Monday night after an hour's public debate and 11 hours' private consultations on what to do about the fighting.

The Russians wanted the resolution to indicate only that the forces should withdraw to the positions they held before the fighting.

The Americans wanted to be able to interpret it as meaning also that the Egyptians should withdraw from the Strait of Tiran where they were blockading Israeli shipping.

The Egyptians occupied Sharm el Sheikh, overlooking the strait, after the U.N. Emergency Force evacuated it about two weeks ago in withdrawing from Egypt by that government's request.

Danish Ambassador Hans R. Tabor, president of the council this month, in adjourning it overnight said consultations on a resolution had not finished and asked that the members be available to continue them an hour before today's meeting.

As delegates reported, Tabor said there was general agreement that the resolution should call for a cease-fire, and that it should call for a troop withdrawal, and the only thing in dispute was the point to which the troops should withdraw.

He said that he had found it necessary finally to bring Fedorenko and Goldberg into confrontation on that issue, that they differed strongly on it but that both had seemed more positive in their attitudes after getting fresh instructions from their governments late Monday.

Viet Cong Shell Wounds Marine

An 18-year-old Wellsville Marine is convalescing at a service hospital with wounds of the legs suffered when hit by enemy mortar shell fragments Saturday.

Pfc. Bernard Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Stewart of 115 Kountz Ave., was with an infantry unit at Quang Tin Procine, about 25 miles south of the main Marine base at Da-Nang.

Salaries To Remain Same

Board Extends Contracts Of Both Blair And Pelini

The Board of Education Monday night extended the existing contracts of Supt. Paul Blair and Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini to Aug. 1, 1971. The salaries will remain the same.

The contracts had been extended previously. Blair's would have expired Aug. 1, 1969, while Pelini's ran through Aug. 31, 1968.

All members approved the action except Jack Woomer, who said he objected to having both expire on the same date.

Board members commented they would like to see both men continue in their present apacities and see the present onstruction program completed.

Each thanked the board for the vote of confidence. Blair said he will strive to continue to work with the board, the staff and residents to improve the educational program in the community.

IN OTHER action, the board renewed the contracts of Lt. Col. Stanley G. Brugh and Sgt. 1C John T. Isaac in the Junior ROTC program. The board pays half of the difference between their retired pay and the amount they would receive if in active service.

The board also approved the resignations of seven teachers, three for retirement, and hired several others for summer school programs.

Retiring are Mrs. Erla Betts, high school librarian; Mrs. Firth Smith, junior high instructor, and Mrs. Ruth Earl, high school Spanish instructor.

Leaving the system for other positions are Robert Shankovich, vocal music supervisor, and Bruce Roush, Mrs. Kathleen Kelly and Mrs. Wilma Mason, elementary instructors. Also re-

Egypt Claims U.S., British Planes Join To Support Israel

By The Associated Press

Israeli forces swept within 90 miles of the Suez Canal today, apparently following the road that led them to the vital waterway in 1956. The Egyptians closed the canal on the ground that it could be blocked indefinitely if a ship was hit there.

With their bitterness overflowing against the United States because of its past support of Israel, three Arab countries—Kuwait, Iraq and Algeria—cut off sale of oil to the United States and Britain. Lebanon curtailed loading of oil from pipelines.

These actions followed Cairo charges that British and American planes from carriers were aiding Israel. The charges were denounced as false in both Washington and London.

The Soviet Union was backing the Arabs and spoke out against Israel as having instigated the war, but no military intervention from Moscow was evident.

By land or air, Israel carried the war into Jordan, Syria and Iraq as well as Egypt.

Israel, seemingly with air superiority over the fronts, claimed the destruction of at least 374 Arab planes. Israel admitted losing 19 planes, while the Arab commands claimed 183 were shot down.

An indication of Israel's air superiority came from a Jordanian communique in Amman. It said there was "a huge umbrella of Israli aircraft over the whole Jordanian front."

As the war intensified, mobs attacked U.S. facilities in Damascus and Baghdad and the consulate in Egypt's Alexandria.

In addition to striking deep into the northern Sinai Desert, the Israeli army announced the virtual occupation of the Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean with the capture of the city of Gaza, Egyptian administrative headquarters.

The strip had been bypassed by Israeli forces striking south and west and Radio Israel called on the strip's residents to surrender. Most of the strip's resi-

Beaver Local Sets Vote On 2 Additions

A vote on a proposed bond issue to provide for new classrooms for Beaver Local High School and Public School is tentatively set for November in the school district.

The board of education Monday night authorized Supt. Roy Cashdollar to confer with Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, concerning cost estimates for eight new classrooms for the high school and at least two for the Public School.

Cashdollar and board members pointed out the increasing enrollment throughout the school district and said there will be an increase of 72 students at the high school next year without the freshman class moveup.

Freshmen classes were transferred from the high school to the Public School four years ago because of lack of classroom space.

The high school was built in 1958 and the Public School in 1959.

The amount of the proposed bond issue will depend on the estimated cost of the project, it was explained.

In other action, the board hired William P. Johnston of Washington Court House as prin-

Construction Changes For Schools Rejected

Changes that would have resulted in an annual $2,461 savings in insurance premiums on the new high school - elementary complex now under construction have been turned down by the Ohio Department of Education, at least temporarily.

Robert F. Beatty, architect, informed the Board of Education Monday night that the change order had been rejected by T. V. Utterback, chief of the building section.

The order would have permitted installation of high - pressure pumps for water to fire hydrants and the insurance rate would have been altered, resulting in the savings.

THE BOARD had requested permission to use money in the contingent fund to increase the size of the pump house and the pumps, along with the necessary plumbing and electrical work. It would have cost approximately $9,000 more.

Utterback, in a letter, said the change order was refused since there is only $21,000 left in the contingency fund, which is not enough to allow the expenditure since there may be other unforeseen expenses.

But he did approve the expenditure of $587 for enlarging the pump house, indicating the approval for the other work may come later. In the meantime, the board will have to continue paying the higher insurance premium.

Utterback said the only way the order would be approved is if the board would accept full responsibility for any additional costs that might arise after the contingency fund is gone.

The change order for enlarging the pump house was approved.

Disturbed by the letter, Jack Woomer, board member, said he realizes the state is aiding in the construction, but asked, "Can they dictate every step? It's about time we fight back." Later he asked, "How long are we going to set back and take this?"

—:—

THE BOARD also approved other change orders amounting to $11,123.50. This including an extra drain for the driveway at a cost of $9,962 and $550 for a drain along the side of the gymnasium to guard against the possibility of water leaking from the city's reservoir and running down the wall onto the gym floor.

Beatty pointed out that the entire figure would change as there are other changes which will result in credits. He said a possible change in sanitary sewer lines could result in a savings.

As steelworkers still are on strike, there is no change in the progress of the structural steel work. Operating engineers also are on strike and no work has been done on the concrete floors. Strikes by plumbers also have halted this work. Masonry work is continuing as is the electrical work.

Other work is continuing to permit erection of structural steel once the strike is ended.

At East Elementary school, foundations are being poured. The site grading for the LaCroft Elementary school is completed and work will be started on the foundations.

Beatty was instructed to select the colors for the glazed steel panels on the buildings.

More Testimony Heard At Lisbon In $12,000 Suit

LISBON — Testimony resumed this morning before a Common Pleas Court jury in a $12,000 lawsuit filed by a Lisbon couple against two local contractors.

Foyn and Violet McDevitt of 313 W. High St. claim that Fred Lutz of Lutz Plumbing & Heating and Dean Rose of the Rose Excavating Co. are responsible for damage to their house.

The plaintiffs say they entered into an oral contract with the defendants in May, 1964, to install a sewer from their house to Thomas Rd. and that on June 16 a ditch was dug from the house to the road and inside the north and west walls in the basement floor.

Workmen laid the pipe June 17 and the west basement wall caved in June 20 following a rain June 19, the McDevitts say. They claim the house dropped eight inches and there was damage to walls, floors, ceilings, plaster, plumbing and wiring.

On the jury sworn in Monday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard are:

John Little, Eleanor McMurray, Anna M. Thiel and Evelyn Walton, Salem; Anna K. Burcham, Jason Yaney and Helen Sell, East Liverpool; Irene Ferguson and Freda Feldman, Salineville; Walter K. Burt and Dale E. Hoff, Columbiana, and Virginia Stiffler, Lisbon. Beeman G. Ludwig, Salem, is the alternate.

Youth's First Swim Ends On Tragic Note

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Tom Steele's first swim in the Great Miami River ended tragically when the 14-year-old Hamilton boy apparently suffered a cramp late Monday.

Neal Blanton, 13, Hamilton, told authorities he tried to hold Tom up until a boat could reach them, but lost his grip in the craft's backwash. Young Steele went under. His body was recovered half an hour later just inside the city limits.

Construction Changes For Schools Rejected

Changes that would have resulted in an annual $2,461 savings in insurance premiums on the new high school - elementary complex now under construction have been turned down by the Ohio Department of Education, at least temporarily.

Robert F. Beatty, architect, informed the Board of Education Monday night that the change order had been rejected by T. V. Utterback, chief of the building section.

The order would have permitted installation of high - pressure pumps for water to fire hydrants and the insurance rate would have been altered, resulting in the savings.

THE BOARD had requested permission to use money in the contingent fund to increase the size of the pump house and the pumps, along with the necessary plumbing and electrical work. It would have cost approximately $9,000 more.

Utterback, in a letter, said the change order was refused since there is only $21,000 left in the contingency fund, which is not enough to allow the expenditure since there may be other unforeseen expenses.

But he did approve the expenditure of $587 for enlarging the pump house, indicating the approval for the other work may come later. In the meantime, the board will have to continue paying the higher insurance premium.

Utterback said the only way the order would be approved is if the board would accept full responsibility for any additional costs that might arise after the contingency fund is gone.

The change order for enlarging the pump house was approved.

Disturbed by the letter, Jack Woomer, board member, said he realizes the state is aiding in the construction, but asked, "Can they dictate every step? It's about time we fight back." Later he asked, "How long are we going to set back and take this?"

—:—

THE BOARD also approved other change orders amounting to $11,123.50. This including an extra drain for the driveway at a cost of $9,982 and $550 for a drain along the side of the gymnasium to guard against the possibility of water leaking from the city's reservoir and running down the wall onto the gym floor.

Beatty pointed out that the entire figure would change as there are other changes which will result in credits. He said a possible change in sanitary sewer lines could result in a savings.

As steelworkers still are on strike, there is no change in the progress of the structural steel work. Operating engineers also are on strike and no work has been done on the concrete floors. Strikes by plumbers also have halted this work. Masonry work is continuing as is the electrical work.

Other work is continuing to permit erection of structural steel once the strike is ended.

At East Elementary school, foundations are being poured. The site grading for the La-Croft Elementary school is completed and work will be started on the foundations.

Beatty was instructed to select the colors for the glazed steel panels on the buildings.

Adult Education Project Rapped

The Adult Educational - Vocational program presently being given in the Hancock County School system came under fire Monday night from Dr. Eli Weller at a meeting of the Board of Education.

Dr. Weller's main criticism of the program was two-fold: He said it is not broad enough and the school administrators, including the board, were not given sufficient role.

He noted that during the recent graduation program held at the Millsop Community Center in Weirton, the program was "dominated" by Weirton Steel personnel. He said at least one Board of Education member should have been represented on the program.

Dr. Weller said he is not seeking personal publicity, but the board should be represented since the school system paid for part of the program.

Weller did not attack the program, stating he was in favor of the training, but noted other branches of the business community should be supplied with trained personnel as well as the local steel firm.

He said presently the program appears geared to a single industry.

PART OF the expansion of the program, he continued, should deal with services.

Robert Hall, superintendent, took issue with some of Dr. Weller's statements.

He pointed out the program was set up by agencies of the state and federal government and noted not all those enrolled by the program are employed by the steel firm and courses are open to all persons. The curriculum could be expanded, Hall said. The federal and state agencies provide most of the funds for the program, with the board being charged only for utilities, he added.

He stated, all the equipment for the program was provided by the agencies at no cost to the school and the set-up of the vocational program follows regulations set by the government.

Dr. Weller said he didn't think the agencies in question would set up the vocational program to benefit one industry, nor would they oppose the expansion of the curriculum.

Board member Fred Barnabei noted the equipment also was used by students at the school.

HALL SAID he would gladly have a representative from the state explain the entire program to the board.

He added that the only cost to the board was the vocational building which amounted to $37,500; the remainder of the $150,000 investment was divided between Weirton Steel ($50,000) and the governmental agencies which make up the remainder.

Dr. Weller said he also wishes to see the school administration play a more active part in the program.

He also brought under fire the head-start program in the county.

In noting his objection to it, he said he does not like the way in which the government pushes the program into the schools before they have a chance to examine it.

He referred to a statement by Crawford Cameron, director of the program, that the school was rushed in picking administrative people.

CAMERON noted on the basis of some of this action the school should seriously consider whether it should be involved in the plan.

The whole discussion was kicked off when the board was asked to approve four teachers for the program and Dr. Weller wanted to know if all teachers in the system had been informed of the program and the need for teachers.

He was told applications were sent to all school principals and 10 applications have been received. The four were recommended on the basis of previous teaching experience.

The four are:: Susan Hanlin, Ruth Fuller, Clayton Jennings and Carolyn Allison.

In approving the teachers, Dr. Weller stipulated that Cameron be instructed to review the program and the legal obligation of the school to participate. Cameron will also study the cost of the program.

Dr. Weller, in voicing his objection, said it was the way the federal government "pushed the program upon the schools" in such a manner that it does not have time to study it thoroughly that bothered him. This, he said, is unfair to the participating schools.

tiring is Edward Lowe, a school custodian.

The board appointed Mrs. Ellen K. Forbes of Wellsville and Miss Joan Tomec, a June graduate of Mt. Mercy College at Pittsburgh, as high school English teachers for the coming term. Mrs. Forbes has been doing her student teaching in the system.

SEVERAL teachers were appointed for summer school at the rate of $4.50 an hour. In the high school are Robert McNea, Ralph Hutchison, Frank Moss, Wilbert Moore, Mrs. Marjorie Hoffman, David Thorne, Miss Norma Carpenter, Milton Watson, Keith Langdon, Mrs. Naomi Robison, John Robison, Mrs. Miriam Dunn, Clinton McConnell, Jack Alpern and Marc Hoffrichter. The board will be reimbursed for their salaries under the state foundation program, since no tuition is charged the students.

For the elementary school under the federal Title I project are Mrs. Eleanor Rice, Mrs. Velma Poole, Mrs. Naomi Hendrickson, Robert Lorah, Mrs. Dorothy Lynch, Mrs. Ruth Dawson, Mrs. Lorna Wilson, Mrs. Mary North, Wilbur Wolf, Miss Elizabeth Coleman, Mrs. Hazel Neiser, Mrs. Evelyn Bibbee, Miss Karen Moss, Mrs. Gretchen Baldwin, Miss Goldenbelle Kelly, Miss Violet Vorndran and Mrs. Pat Kapp.

Instructors for the federal life adjustment program will be Mrs. Dolores Hughes and Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout, Westgate reading laboratory, and Mrs. Roberta Lane and Mrs. Mary Alice Slaven, East Junior reading lab. Also teaching at East Junior will be James Harper, shop, Mrs. Gladys Hydeer, sewing, Mrs. Lucille Possage, art, and Donald Charlton, physical education.

Joseph Cochran, assistant principal at Westgate, was named supervisor of the federal programs at the rate of $5.83 per hour. This is the rate recommended by the government.

All those teaching under federal programs are paid from federal funds, which have been approved for the year.

THE BOARD approved the request of Mrs. Elaine Parsons to be relieved of her duties as sponsor and adviser of the high school cheerleaders. Miss Patricia Beck, English teacher, was appointed to the post, which pays an additional $150 a year.

Curtis Miller was named assistant to the superintendent of buildings and grounds. His salary will remain the same.

The board directed letters of congratulations to Miss Mary Alice Jura, high school biology instructor, for receiving a National Science Foundation scholarship to Wilkes College at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and to Joseph Mitchell, who received a scholarship in economics at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

The board awarded contracts for paper supplies to be used in the elementary buildings. The money is taken from the materials fee charged each student. The cost, by the ream, from the suppliers will be 47 cents for 9-x-12-inch white newsprint paper, 93 cents for 12-x-8-inch white newsprint, 51 cents for yellow primary paper, and 70 cents for theme paper.

In presenting the financial report, Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk, said the final settlement on the first half of the real estate taxes had been received. It totaled $180,165.

Of this, $25,417.33 was taken out for deductions, including $902 for election expense, $12,828 for county auditor and treasurer fees and $11,685 for the State Board of Education toward repayment of Project 491 money, which is to build the new schools.

BLAIR SAID the transportation survey being made by the Department of Education should be completed by the end of the month.

dents are Arab refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

More than 30 miles west of the strip, the Israeli army fanned out from the captured key coastal town of El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula and seized Bir Lachpan to the southeast, an army announcement in Tel Aviv said.

The Israel column at El Arish was in a position to strike due west for Port Said, at the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal. This is one of the major routes followed by the Israeli army in overruning the Sinai Desert in 1956.

Cairo radio said the canal, one of the world's most vital waterways, had been closed because of Israeli attacks on ships in the canal.

Baghdad radio said Iraqi President Abdel Rahman Aref has stopped delivery of his country's oil to the West because of "the position of America and Britain."

His action was announced after the Egyptian high command charged that U.S. and British Navy planes had joined the war in support of Israel, a charge that the U.S. and British governments immediately denied.

Cairo radio said the Suez Canal was being closed because a ship might be hit in the waterway and block it "for a long time."

The broadcast did not identify the ships which it said had come under Israeli fire. Egypt charged Monday that Israeli planes had fired on a French tanker in the canal but apparently it was not hit.

Egypt charged that planes from U.S. and British aircraft carriers attacked Arab forces in Jordan and provided an air umbrella over Israel. Despite immediate denials from the U.S. and British governments, which had proclaimed their neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict, the Arab Labor Federation appealed to "workers all over the Arab world" to destroy all oilfields, pipelines and other installations to halt the flow of oil to the United States and Britain.

The Arabs countered Israel's victory statements with claims of an Egyptian thrust into Israel's Negev Desert, the downing of more than 165 Israeli planes on all fronts, a Jordanian claim that Israeli penetration of Jordan had been repulsed, and a Syrian claim to have occupied an Israeli settlement which the Israelis said they recaptured.

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol told a night session of Parliament that Israel had inflicted a "severe beating" on the forces of Egypt, Syria and Jordan."

The Israelis announced that their armor had captured the key seacoast town of El Arish in its sweep into Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. El Arish was a vital objective of the Israelis in their 1956 drive on Suez.

Israel's chief of staff, Gen. Itzhak Rabin said one Israeli column, after reaching El Arish, pushed on to Abu Ageila, another strategic point. In the Gaza Strip jutting to the north of that sector, Israeli troops were reported fighting on the outskirts of the ancient town of Gaza.

Rabin said other Israeli columns had smashed their way into the center and southern sectors of the Sinai Desert.

War Blocks Woman's Trip To Middle East

A city woman, about to board a plane at New York to begin a trip to Israel Monday, found her journey halted at the start by the outbreak of war in the Middle East.

Mrs. Maurice Rapport of 335 Thompson Ave., proprietor of Rapport's Dress Shop of E. 5th St., had planned a business - pleasure trip to Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Jaffa and Haifa to view lines of women's clothing fashions.

At Kennedy International Airport yesterday, a State Department official announced Americans had been forbidden to enter the Middle East due to the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Mrs. Rapport and her husband found a previous trip to Israel blocked in 1956 when they arrived in Europe to learn of fighting between Israel and Egyptians.

Mrs. Rapport commented yesterday, "My trip to Isreal is not canceled, merely delayed. Peace must come, and my plans will be realized."

Joseph Cochran, assistant principal at Westgate, was named supervisor of the federal programs at the rate of $5.83 per hour. This is the rate recommended by the government.

All those teaching under federal programs are paid from federal funds, which have been approved for the year.

THE BOARD approved the request of Mrs. Elaine Parsons to be relieved of her duties as sponsor and adviser of the high school cheerleaders. Miss Patricia Beck, English teacher, was appointed to the post, which pays an additional $150 a year.

Curtis Miller was named assistant to the superintendent of buildings and grounds. His salary will remain the same.

The board directed letters of congratulations to Miss Mary Alice Jura, high school biology instructor, for receiving a National Science Foundation scholarship to Wilkes College at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and to Joseph Mitchell, who received a scholarship in economics at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

The board awarded contracts for paper supplies to be used in the elementary buildings. The money is taken from the materials fee charged each student. The cost, by the ream, from the suppliers will be 47 cents for 9-x-12-inch white newsprint paper, 93 cents for 12-x-8-inch white newsprint, 51 cents for yellow primary paper, and 70 cents for theme paper.

In presenting the financial report, Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk, said the final settlement on the first half of the real estate taxes had been received. It totaled $180,165.

Of this, $25,417.33 was taken out for deductions, including $902 for election expense, $12,828 for county auditor and treasurer fees and $11,685 for the State Board of Education toward repayment of Project 491 money, which is to build the new schools.

BLAIR SAID the transportation survey being made by the Department of Education should be completed by the end of the month.

dents are Arab refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

More than 30 miles west of the strip, the Israeli army fanned out from the captured key coastal town of El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula and seized Bir Lachpan to the southeast, an army announcement in Tel Aviv said.

The Israel column at El Arish was in a position to strike due west for Port Said, at the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal. This is one of the major routes followed by the Israeli army in overruning the Sinai Desert in 1956.

Cairo radio said the canal, one of the world's most vital waterways, had been closed because of Israeli attacks on ships in the canal.

Baghdad radio said Iraqi President Abdel Rahman Aref has stopped delivery of his country's oil to the West because of "the position of America and Britain."

His action was announced after the Egyptian high command charged that U.S. and British Navy planes had joined the war in support of Israel, a charge that the U.S. and British governments immediately denied.

Cairo radio said the Suez Canal was being closed because a ship might be hit in the waterway and block it "for a long time."

The broadcast did not identify the ships which it said had come under Israeli fire. Egypt charged Monday that Israeli planes had fired on a French tanker in the canal but apparently it was not hit.

Egypt charged that planes from U.S. and British aircraft carriers attacked Arab forces in Jordan and provided an air umbrella over Israel. Despite immediate denials from the U.S. and British governments, which had proclaimed their neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict, the Arab Labor Federation appealed to "workers all over the Arab world" to destroy all oilfields, pipelines and other installations to halt the flow of oil to the United States and Britain.

The Arabs countered Israel's victory statements with claims of an Egyptian thrust into Israel's Negev Desert, the downing of more than 165 Israeli planes on all fronts, a Jordanian claim that Israeli penetration of Jordan had been repulsed, and a Syrian claim to have occupied an Israeli settlement which the Israelis said they recaptured.

Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol told a night session of Parliament that Israel had inflicted a "severe beating" on the forces of Egypt, Syria and Jordan."

The Israelis announced that their armor had captured the key seacoast town of El Arish in its sweep into Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. El Arish was a vital objective of the Israelis in their 1956 drive on Suez.

Israel's chief of staff, Gen. Itzhak Rabin said one Israeli column, after reaching El Arish, pushed on to Abu Ageila, another strategic point. In the Gaza Strip jutting to the north of that sector, Israeli troops were reported fighting on the outskirts of the ancient town of Gaza.

Rabin said other Israeli columns had smashed their way into the center and southern sectors of the Sinai Desert.

War Blocks Woman's Trip To Middle East

A city woman, about to board a plane at New York to begin a trip to Israel Monday, found her journey halted at the start by the outbreak of war in the Middle East.

Mrs. Maurice Rapport of 335 Thompson Ave., proprietor of Rapport's Dress Shop of E. 5th St., had planned a business - pleasure trip to Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Jaffa and Haifa to view lines of women's clothing fashions.

At Kennedy International Airport yesterday, a State Department official announced Americans had been forbidden to enter the Middle East due to the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Mrs. Rapport and her husband found a previous trip to Israel blocked in 1956 when they arrived in Europe to learn of fighting between Israel and Egyptians.

Mrs. Rapport commented yesterday, "My trip to Isreal is not canceled, merely delayed. Peace must come, and my plans will be realized."

All Eyes Are On Middle East

While Arabs and Israelis are killing each other, the rest of the world is waiting to see where the Middle East road will lead.

The most ominous threat, of course, is that the United States and Russia will be pulled into the whirlpool of ancient animosities and warring ways of Middle East nations.

The United States has made it clear it will not sit idly by and watch Israel's destruction. Therefore, if the belligerents insist on fighting, the United States will become involved.

Washington is still hoping the United Nations Security Council can patch up the difficulty, or other nations working together can find a solution.

It was first thought Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser was striking a hard line in an effort to win concessions without risking an all-out war.

The fighting that has erupted put an abrupt end to that theory.

Whether the battling can be attributed to old hatreds, or Nasser's bid for power and glory, the fact remains people are being killed and the threat of a wider war is very real.

A lack of official and dependable means of communication makes it difficult to know just what is going on. Conflicting reports from both sides add to the confusion.

Early reactions are chilling to observers outside the warring states.

During first broadcasts on the outbreak of fighting, happy Egyptians danced in the streets of Cairo. Jordanians joined the fracas at the outset.

And, Israeli leaders vowed their people will fight to the last man to protect their state.

Both United States and Russian warships are in the Mediterranean Sea. A fact that adds considerably to the tension.

Frenzied diplomatic maneuvering is continuing in hope of nipping the war in the bud. Two other times in the last two decades fighting between Israelis and Arabs has been halted. Perhaps a truce again can be reached.

In the meantime, the rest of the world will rest uneasily on pins and needles while awaiting the outcome of peace efforts.

Out Of Line

The painting of new center lines on East Liverpool streets brings to mind the need for a similar line on the Chester bridge.

It has been some time since a sharply-defined dividing marker has been seen on the heavily-traveled span.

The traffic problem becomes especially acute during rain, those who travel the bridge point out.

The sooner a line is painted the better it will be for all concerned.

Was Capt. Levy Disloyal?

Howard B. Levy, the young U. S. Army doctor who has been given what he knew was coming to him for attitudes that would be called militarily disobedient and disolyal, can take some small comfort from knowing his punishment is threatening to hurt his punishers as much as it will hurt him.

The Army courts-martial that tried and convicted Capt. Levy had no choice. It had to find him guilty because in plain fact he was guilty on the charges made against him.

But in less than plain fact, the young doctor, who had served two years under the rule that makes all young doctors perform military service because their services are needed, was morally guiltless.

He merely was continuing to believe, as a doctor in uniform, what he presumably believed before he was drafted for medical duty and will believe when released from prison — that the art of healing does not comprise teaching military medics being trained for combat service in Vietnam.

Under the code of military discipline, young doctors drafted into service are no different from anyone else. Yet, the fact is that their training in healing arts does put many of them in mental conflict with the arts of maiming and killing. Militarists cannot be expected to understand this, but perhaps other doctors can understand it.

Capt. Levy can ponder the problem behind bars while members of his profession ponder it over their daily rounds.

There may even be some pondering in the Pentagon over the handling of a situation that might very well have been handled so adroitly Capt. Levy, whose two years of medical service was almost over anyway, could have shed his uniform without mishap.

The Red Cross

Observance of the 50th anniversary of the Area Red Cross chapter calls to mind the many and varied services provided by the chapter staff and volunteer aides down through the years.

These men and women have given their time and energies to assist the needy, the victims of fires and floods, the men in uniform, hospital patients and staff members and others, to instruct young people and adults in first aid, water safety and home nursing and to take part in countless community services.

Red Cross not only has earned the thanks of millions across the world for aid in disasters and in wars, but continues to merit respect throughout the tri-state district for being an important part of each community.

Rifle Silence Is Deadly

Representatives of the House Armed Services Committee are in Vietnam to probe reports of Marine dissatisfaction with the M16 rifle.

Some Marines accuse the weapon of jamming in combat. Others like it. Officers blame malfunctioning on lack of proper care of the weapon.

Those who favor the M16 over the M14 because of its lighter weight and automatic capability, say the rifle will gain full acceptance after Marines have "lived with it" awhile and learned to care for it properly.

The M16 has been the standard weapon for the U.S. Army for the last two years. A spokesman said the weapon has improved with age. When jams did develop, they were blamed on faulty cleaning.

The M14 and the M1 before it were simple, durable semiautomatics, resistant to grit and grime.

The M16 has extremely close tolerances which makes it susceptible to trouble from dust, mud or even too much cleaning oil. A corroded cartridge casing can cause the ejection mechanism to fail.

Under far from perfect climate conditions and the strain of combat, kid-glove treatment of the rifle can be difficult.

Since the day the English invented the long bow and gave the world a powerful weapon that could be used effectively while a great distance from the enemy, the search has gone on to improve on the principle.

The M16 is another long-range destruction device.

Had the English been unable to find a sufficiently strong string and a good wax to keep it from rotting, the long bow would have been just another discard on the rubbish heap of wasted effort.

The three-man investigating panel wants to see if something else might be done to make the M16 a more perfect rifle.

The Marine is right when he says one dependable semiautomatic rifle is worth two jammed automatics when a Viet Cong is staring you in the face.

The House unit hopes to find out how dependability can be achieved in the M16.

Shall We Dance?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's like a minuet. Faced with the likelihood of a war in the Middle East, a war that could sprout into World War III, the United Nations all last week danced around the problem, doing nothing.

Monday the war came. And again the U.N. Security Council dipped into its ever-handy bag of debate and consultation about some kind of agreement calling for a cease-fire.

There's a limit on how long the council can dawdle with semantics, while people perish in the Mideast's Jewish and Arab world, and still retain any meaning or respect.

And while the fighting continued, and the council members argued, the watching world grew a little more tense for reasons outside the immediate conflict between Jews and Arabs.

MOSCOW announced the Arabs had its resolute support, which could mean anything from moral approval to military intervention, although it seemed a little milder than the Soviet statement of May 23 which said aggression against the Arabs would meet with the "resolute resistance of the Soviet Union and all peace-loving states."

But the Soviets stood firmly on the Arab side, accusing Israel of aggression and demanding it stop fighting unconditionally.

If this most recent Soviet statement seemed less belligerent than the earlier one, it may have been a bit of word-juggling, and, as a result, while Moscow didn't increase the tension it didn't lessen the tension.

This country got into the word-juggling act, too. President Johnson also issued a statement last May 23, saying this country is "firmly committed to the support of the political independence and territorial integrity of all the nations of the area," meaning the Middle East.

Then Monday, the State Department, through its press officer, Robert McCloskey, gave the American position on the fighting. "Our position is neutral in thought, word and deed," he said.

DID THIS contradict Johnson's May 23 position: that this country is committed to the support of the political independence of all nations in the area? No, some other U.S. officials said, explaining it is not clear yet whether the Israelis or the Arabs started the war.

But a little later Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, said the State Department statement was "not a formal declaration of neutrality." He explained that "in a conflict you are either a belligerent or a neutral." And he added that the United States is certainly not a belligerent.

If this all seemed like word-splitting by Moscow and Washington, it was only an extension of what had been going on between their representatives in the United Nations Monday.

The question there was how to agree on calling on both Israel and the Arabs for a cease-fire, whether it should be just a cease-fire or a cease-fire with a string attached.

The Soviet Union and the pro-Arab members of the Security Council wanted a cease-fire, but also they wanted both sides to pull back to their positions — meaning inside their own borders — before Monday's fighting began.

But the United States, Britain and others didn't like this. They wanted cease-fire without the withdrawal because if both sides pulled back Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba would be strengthened.

'What Are You Going To Do About It?'

Nixon Or Rockefeller?

By Raymond Moley

A vigorous old man addressing a group in his own age bracket recently assured his listeners that, while they were too old for girl-watching, there still remained bird-watching which they could enjoy without leaving their back yard.

Commentators in a dull political year like this must content themselves with an equally effortless exercise, GOP candidate-watching. Generally, I avoid speculation about candidates, because unforeseen circumstances in the coming 13 months will provide the only reliable answer. But since I am confronted with this subject almost every day, a bit of speculation may be in order.

Much talk about Republican plans for 1968 centers upon Richard Nixon. The opinion is widespread, as it was in the case of Robert A. Taft in 1952, that Nixon has fine qualifications but cannot be elected. He is, "they" say, twice defeated and shopworn.

It is likely, however, that doubts about his capacity to defeat President Johnson may considerably lessen when later this year he draws upon his observations in Europe, Asia and Latin America for a series of speeches. It is possible to anticipate that what he says may provide a viable program of opposition for a GOP which seems to need it. That would assure Nixon of the respect and allegiance due a leader. None of the other potentials seem to have the experience and knowledge for such leadership.

Doubts arising from Nixon's two defeats are answered by his supporters in part by an appeal to history.

IN RECENT times, Grover Cleveland, William Jennings Bryan and Thomas Dewey were defeated in elections, but still grasped the nomination in another year. Cleveland, of course, was the only one to be elected after a defeat.

One Nixon friend points to the dubious political fortunes of Abraham Lincoln before his election to the presidency.

He was defeated when he first ran for the Illinois Legislature, but was elected two years later. He won election to Congress, but his rather dismal record there denked him a renomination.

A decade later Stephen Douglas defeated him for the Senate, but in the famous debates Lincoln made Douglas' election to the presidency impossible in 1860.

Nixon was defeated in 1960 by a narrow margin. If there had been a fair count of votes in Illinois, Missouri and Texas, John Kennedy could not have won.

Next year, Nixon, if well-advised, will avoid the booby trap of the New Hampshire primary. The bones of the ambitions of Taft and Goldwater are up there.

A great deal of Goldwater support, including that of the former candidate himself, is for Nixon. But if George Wallace of Alabama runs, no GOP candidate can win the Southern tier of states won by Goldwater in 1964.

Since we are speaking here of the nomination, however, it is not unlikely that Nixon can have the delegates from those states in the South and the border that nominated Goldwater in 1964, with the exception of Texas and Florida, which may have favorite sons.

Also, there will be several other favorite-son states, which may well throw the decision into the convention itself.

Among dedicated conservatives who still believe the issues of 1964 deserve another trial in 1968 there is a great deal of talk about Gov. Ronald Reagan. But Reagan might well note the decision of Earl Warren in 1944 when he, like Reagan, was in the middle of his first term as governor.

DEWEY, assured of the presidential nomination, asked Warren to run for vice president. Warren answered that if he were on the ticket the people of California would vote to keep him home and on the job as governor.

It is almost inconceivable that Gov. George Romney, despite his elaborate organization, could win a nomination from a convention that will have a considerable number of the same people who nominated Goldwater in 1964.

Romney lost the 1968 nomination when he decided to withhold his support from the GOP ticket in 1964. In that 1968 convention there will also be a large number of Nixon delegates and the favorite sons.

At the moment, the only formidable rival with whom Nixon must reckon is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Despite Rockefeller's disavowals and his support of Romney, he will be a choice of many delegates impressed by his success in winning re-election in 1966, his ambitious state programs this year and the support of the powerful and wealthy Eastern establishment.

Looming on the horizon are several potential compromises like Sen. Charles Percy. But wise delegates will recall the fate of dark horses in the past.

They look fine until they meet the test in a campaign against a real professional. And such a tough, seasoned professional is Lyndon B. Johnson.

Odd Facts

The anaconda, which is the name of four kinds of large snakes found in tropical South America, sometimes attain a length of more than 30 feet. Anacondas bear live young, instead of laying eggs.

The single "crime" for which more persons are arrested in the U.S. than any other is drunkenness. Following this is disorderly conduct, then larceny or theft, then burglary (breaking in or entering).

The record year for labor strikes in the United States was 1952, when there was a total of 5,117 strikes and lockouts.

Fumble!

U Thant's Action Questioned

A prolonged dialogue on the Middle East seems in prospect. In the interim, Egypt's leader, who seeks to dominate the entire region, will appear to have had his way.

The Soviet Union is giving Nasser strong support, while the United States and Great Britain plead with him to exercise self-restraint.

But it is pertinent to look ahead at the probably long-range results as compared with the ephemeral advantages to be derived from keeping the Gulf of Aqaba closed to international shipping.

It will naturally take a lot of time for the controversy to get through the procedures of the United Nations and also through the subsequent conferences that may emerge between nations which seek to find a basis for a compromise.

Eventually, Nasser will have to face the facts of life and realize that to antagonize the most powerful industrial nation in the world today and to slow down or diminish shipments of oil from the Middle East to other areas of the world is not likely to bring economic stability or prosperity either to Egypt or to allied Arab countries.

Incidentally, both North and South America have a suplus of petroleum, and perhaps this is the time for Europe to begin to be less dependent on Arabian oil.

The United States, of course, will gradually find itself compelled to suspend its foreign-aid programs to those countries which have openly shown their hostility to American interests.

Also, Congress is not likely to pass a pending bill which would provide trade concessions to Communist countries in eastern Europe.

It will be said the Arab nations will rely on Russia to finance and support them. But Moscow is not inclined to become too deeply involved in economic aid to the Middle East while the Soviet Union faces a threat of conflict with the Red Chinese and is substantially involved in Southeast Asia in connection with the Vietnam War.

The people of the Soviet Union have by no means achieved a good standard of living. It is well known that restlessness prevails in many areas. Internal reforms are constantly being urged, and changes actually are being made in response to the unrest.

Little by little, the Russian people may discover that their present leaders are not advancing the cause of world peace but are actually stirring up frictions that can eventually bring on a third world war.

While there will be disappointments over temporary reverses which the United States may encounter in trying to bring about peace and stability in the Middle East, the responsibility of the Soviet government for the crisis is being clearly outlined before the whole world.

Perhaps the most tragic phase of the whole controversy is the apparent weakness of the United Nations. Structural defects are becoming obvious, but even more serious is the utter inability of the United Nations to carry out the principles of its own charter because of the arbitrary exercise of the veto power in the Security Council by the Soviet government.

It is water over the dam now, but Secretary-General U Thant might well have deferred action on the demand of Egypt for withdrawal of the United Nations peace-keeping force from its territory.

This was the kind of step that never should have been handled by an administrative officer.

Defenders of the secretary-general are arguing that the original arrangement was based upon the "consent" of Egypt and by previous agreement could be revoked at any time. Diplomacy, however, rarely acts in a precipitate manner.

U Thant could have presented the whole subject to the Security Council or to the General Assembly and asked for authority to deal with the problem. The United Nations has too many important tasks prescribed in its charter to delegate any of them to a single individual.

World opinion is not likely in the long run to be content with a weak international organization.

It seems certain that sooner or later there will be a universal demand for a revision of the U.N. Charter so a peace-keeping mechanism will be made available for instant action whenever international disputes break out that can menace world peace.

The sooner a line is painted the better it will be for all concerned.

Was Capt. Levy Disloyal?

Howard B. Levy, the young U. S. Army doctor who has been given what he knew was coming to him for attitudes that would be called militarily disobedient and disolyal, can take some small comfort from knowing his punishment is threatening to hurt his punishers as much as it will hurt him.

The Army courts-martial that tried and convicted Capt. Levy had no choice. It had to find him guilty because in plain fact he was guilty on the charges made against him.

But in less than plain fact, the young doctor, who had served two years under the rule that makes all young doctors perform military service because their services are needed, was morally guiltless.

He merely was continuing to believe, as a doctor in uniform, what he presumably believed before he was drafted for medical duty and will believe when released from prison — that the art of healing does not comprise teaching military medics being trained for combat service in Vietnam.

Under the code of military discipline, young doctors drafted into service are no different from anyone else. Yet, the fact is that their training in healing arts does put many of them in mental conflict with the arts of maiming and killing. Militarists cannot be expected to understand this, but perhaps other doctors can understand it.

Capt. Levy can ponder the problem behind bars while members of his profession ponder it over their daily rounds.

There may even be some pondering in the Pentagon over the handling of a situation that might very well have been handled so adroitly Capt. Levy, whose two years of medical service was almost over anyway, could have shed his uniform without mishap.

The Red Cross

Observance of the 50th anniversary of the Area Red Cross chapter calls to mind the many and varied services provided by the chapter staff and volunteer aides down through the years.

These men and women have given their time and energies to assist the needy, the victims of fires and floods, the men in uniform, hospital patients and staff members and others, to instruct young people and adults in first aid, water safety and home nursing and to take part in countless community services.

Red Cross not only has earned the thanks of millions across the world for aid in disasters and in wars, but continues to merit respect throughout the tri-state district for being an important part of each community.

Rifle Silence Is Deadly

Representatives of the House Armed Services Committee are in Vietnam to probe reports of Marine dissatisfaction with the M16 rifle.

Some Marines accuse the weapon of jamming in combat. Others like it. Officers blame malfunctioning on lack of proper care of the weapon.

Those who favor the M16 over the M14 because of its lighter weight and automatic capability, say the rifle will gain full acceptance after Marines have "lived with it" awhile and learned to care for it properly.

The M16 has been the standard weapon for the U.S. Army for the last two years. A spokesman said the weapon has improved with age. When jams did develop, they were blamed on faulty cleaning.

The M14 and the M1 before it were simple, durable semiautomatics, resistant to grit and grime.

The M16 has extremely close tolerances which makes it susceptible to trouble from dust, mud or even too much cleaning oil. A corroded cartridge casing can cause the ejection mechanism to fail.

Under far from perfect climate conditions and the strain of combat, kid-glove treatment of the rifle can be difficult.

Since the day the English invented the long bow and gave the world a powerful weapon that could be used effectively while a great distance from the enemy, the search has gone on to improve on the principle.

The M16 is another long-range destruction device.

Had the English been unable to find a sufficiently strong string and a good wax to keep it from rotting, the long bow would have been just another discard on the rubbish heap of wasted effort.

The three-man investigating panel wants to see if something else might be done to make the M16 a more perfect rifle.

The Marine is right when he says one dependable semiautomatic rifle is worth two jammed automatics when a Viet Cong is staring you in the face.

The House unit hopes to find out how dependability can be achieved in the M16.

Shall We Dance?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's like a minuet. Faced with the likelihood of a war in the Middle East, a war that could sprout into World War III, the United Nations all last week danced around the problem, doing nothing.

Monday the war came. And again the U.N. Security Council dipped into its ever-handy bag of debate and consultation about some kind of agreement calling for a cease-fire.

There's a limit on how long the council can dawdle with semantics, while people perish in the Mideast's Jewish and Arab world, and still retain any meaning or respect.

And while the fighting continued, and the council members argued, the watching world grew a little more tense for reasons outside the immediate conflict between Jews and Arabs.

MOSCOW announced the Arabs had its resolute support, which could mean anything from moral approval to military intervention, although it seemed a little milder than the Soviet statement of May 23 which said aggression against the Arabs would meet with the "resolute resistance of the Soviet Union and all peace-loving states."

But the Soviets stood firmly on the Arab side, accusing Israel of aggression and demanding it stop fighting unconditionally.

If this most recent Soviet statement seemed less belligerent than the earlier one, it may have been a bit of word-juggling, and, as a result, while Moscow didn't increase the tension it didn't lessen the tension.

This country got into the word-juggling act, too. President Johnson also issued a statement last May 23, saying this country is "firmly committed to the support of the political independence and territorial integrity of all the nations of the area," meaning the Middle East.

Then Monday, the State Department, through its press officer, Robert McCloskey, gave the American position on the fighting. "Our position is neutral in thought, word and deed," he said.

DID THIS contradict Johnson's May 23 position: that this country is committed to the support of the political independence of all nations in the area? No, some other U.S. officials said, explaining it is not clear yet whether the Israelis or the Arabs started the war.

But a little later Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, said the State Department statement was "not a formal declaration of neutrality." He explained that "in a conflict you are either a belligerent or a neutral." And he added that the United States is certainly not a belligerent.

If this all seemed like word-splitting by Moscow and Washington, it was only an extension of what had been going on between their representatives in the United Nations Monday.

The question there was how to agree on calling on both Israel and the Arabs for a cease-fire, whether it should be just a cease-fire or a cease-fire with a string attached.

The Soviet Union and the pro-Arab members of the Security Council wanted a cease-fire, but also they wanted both sides to pull back to their positions — meaning inside their own borders — before Monday's fighting began.

But the United States, Britain and others didn't like this. They wanted cease-fire without the withdrawal because if both sides pulled back Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba would be strengthened.

'What Are You Going To Do About It?'

Nixon Or Rockefeller?

By Raymond Moley

A vigorous old man addressing a group in his own age bracket recently assured his listeners that, while they were too old for girl-watching, there still remained bird-watching which they could enjoy without leaving their back yard.

Commentators in a dull political year like this must content themselves with an equally effortless exercise, GOP candidate-watching. Generally, I avoid speculation about candidates, because unforeseen circumstances in the coming 13 months will provide the only reliable answer. But since I am confronted with this subject almost every day, a bit of speculation may be in order.

Much talk about Republican plans for 1968 centers upon Richard Nixon. The opinion is widespread, as it was in the case of Robert A. Taft in 1952, that Nixon has fine qualifications but cannot be elected. He is, "they" say, twice defeated and shopworn.

It is likely, however, that doubts about his capacity to defeat President Johnson may considerably lessen when later this year he draws upon his observations in Europe, Asia and Latin America for a series of speeches. It is possible to anticipate that what he says may provide a viable program of opposition for a GOP which seems to need it. That would assure Nixon of the respect and allegiance due a leader. None of the other potentials seem to have the experience and knowledge for such leadership.

Doubts arising from Nixon's two defeats are answered by his supporters in part by an appeal to history.

IN RECENT times, Grover Cleveland, William Jennings Bryan and Thomas Dewey were defeated in elections, but still grasped the nomination in another year. Cleveland, of course, was the only one to be elected after a defeat.

One Nixon friend points to the dubious political fortunes of Abraham Lincoln before his election to the presidency.

He was defeated when he first ran for the Illinois Legislature, but was elected two years later. He won election to Congress, but his rather dismal record there denked him a renomination.

A decade later Stephen Douglas defeated him for the Senate, but in the famous debates Lincoln made Douglas' election to the presidency impossible in 1860.

Nixon was defeated in 1960 by a narrow margin. If there had been a fair count of votes in Illinois, Missouri and Texas, John Kennedy could not have won.

Next year, Nixon, if well-advised, will avoid the booby trap of the New Hampshire primary. The bones of the ambitions of Taft and Goldwater are up there.

A great deal of Goldwater support, including that of the former candidate himself, is for Nixon. But if George Wallace of Alabama runs, no GOP candidate can win the Southern tier of states won by Goldwater in 1964.

Since we are speaking here of the nomination, however, it is not unlikely that Nixon can have the delegates from those states in the South and the border that nominated Goldwater in 1964, with the exception of Texas and Florida, which may have favorite sons.

Also, there will be several other favorite-son states, which may well throw the decision into the convention itself.

Among dedicated conservatives who still believe the issues of 1964 deserve another trial in 1968 there is a great deal of talk about Gov. Ronald Reagan. But Reagan might well note the decision of Earl Warren in 1944 when he, like Reagan, was in the middle of his first term as governor.

DEWEY, assured of the presidential nomination, asked Warren to run for vice president. Warren answered that if he were on the ticket the people of California would vote to keep him home and on the job as governor.

It is almost inconceivable that Gov. George Romney, despite his elaborate organization, could win a nomination from a convention that will have a considerable number of the same people who nominated Goldwater in 1964.

Romney lost the 1968 nomination when he decided to withhold his support from the GOP ticket in 1964. In that 1968 convention there will also be a large number of Nixon delegates and the favorite sons.

At the moment, the only formidable rival with whom Nixon must reckon is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Despite Rockefeller's disavowals and his support of Romney, he will be a choice of many delegates impressed by his success in winning re-election in 1966, his ambitious state programs this year and the support of the powerful and wealthy Eastern establishment.

Looming on the horizon are several potential compromises like Sen. Charles Percy. But wise delegates will recall the fate of dark horses in the past.

They look fine until they meet the test in a campaign against a real professional. And such a tough, seasoned professional is Lyndon B. Johnson.

The single "crime" for which more persons are arrested in the U.S. than any other is drunkenness. Following this is disorderly conduct, then larceny or theft, then burglary (breaking in or entering).

Fumble!

U Thant's Action Questioned

A prolonged dialogue on the Middle East seems in prospect. In the interim, Egypt's leader, who seeks to dominate the entire region, will appear to have had his way.

The Soviet Union is giving Nasser strong support, while the United States and Great Britain plead with him to exercise self-restraint.

But it is pertinent to look ahead at the probably long-range results as compared with the ephemeral advantages to be derived from keeping the Gulf of Aqaba closed to international shipping.

It will naturally take a lot of time for the controversy to get through the procedures of the United Nations and also through the subsequent conferences that may emerge between nations which seek to find a basis for a compromise.

Eventually, Nasser will have to face the facts of life and realize that to antagonize the most powerful industrial nation in the world today and to slow down or diminish shipments of oil from the Middle East to other areas of the world is not likely to bring economic stability or prosperity either to Egypt or to allied Arab countries.

Incidentally, both North and South America have a suplus of petroleum, and perhaps this is the time for Europe to begin to be less dependent on Arabian oil.

The United States, of course, will gradually find itself compelled to suspend its foreign-aid programs to those countries which have openly shown their hostility to American interests.

Also, Congress is not likely to pass a pending bill which would provide trade concessions to Communist countries in eastern Europe.

It will be said the Arab nations will rely on Russia to finance and support them. But Moscow is not inclined to become too deeply involved in economic aid to the Middle East while the Soviet Union faces a threat of conflict with the Red Chinese and is substantially involved in Southeast Asia in connection with the Vietnam War.

The people of the Soviet Union have by no means achieved a good standard of living. It is well known that restlessness prevails in many areas. Internal reforms are constantly being urged, and changes actually are being made in response to the unrest.

Little by little, the Russian people may discover that their present leaders are not advancing the cause of world peace but are actually stirring up frictions that can eventually bring on a third world war.

While there will be disappointments over temporary reverses which the United States may encounter in trying to bring about peace and stability in the Middle East, the responsibility of the Soviet government for the crisis is being clearly outlined before the whole world.

Perhaps the most tragic phase of the whole controversy is the apparent weakness of the United Nations. Structural defects are becoming obvious, but even more serious is the utter inability of the United Nations to carry out the principles of its own charter because of the arbitrary exercise of the veto power in the Security Council by the Soviet government.

It is water over the dam now, but Secretary-General U Thant might well have deferred action on the demand of Egypt for withdrawal of the United Nations peace-keeping force from its territory.

This was the kind of step that never should have been handled by an administrative officer.

Defenders of the secretary-general are arguing that the original arrangement was based upon the "consent" of Egypt and by previous agreement could be revoked at any time. Diplomacy, however, rarely acts in a precipitate manner.

U Thant could have presented the whole subject to the Security Council or to the General Assembly and asked for authority to deal with the problem. The United Nations has too many important tasks prescribed in its charter to delegate any of them to a single individual.

World opinion is not likely in the long run to be content with a weak international organization.

It seems certain that sooner or later there will be a universal demand for a revision of the U.N. Charter so a peace-keeping mechanism will be made available for instant action whenever international disputes break out that can menace world peace.

Christian Unity Under Roman Papacy

Controversy Surrounds Episcopal Bishop's Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A controversy developed in Christendom today over Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers' proposal that Anglicans and Protestants united under the Roman papacy.

The bishop says he was prompted to deliver the sermon at Grace Cathedral Sunday by the threat of war in the Middle East—which is now a fact.

Myers told newsmen later he had been thinking about it for three years, and the blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba dramatized for him mankind's "sinful devotion to disunity."

"The Middle East represents fragmentation basically caused by food problems," he said.

"I do not believe that God will permit his church to lead mankind further into a tribalistic situation," he had said in his sermon to the standing-room-only congregation of 1,500 on Nob Hill.

A spokesman for the bishop said reaction had been mixed.

Although telephone calls and letters have been received from across the country, he said, the only violent protests have come from laymen, predominantly women.

"What the hell does your bishop think he's doing?" the spokesman quoted a woman who called him as saying.

He said lay objections appeared to be based mostly upon traditional fears of papal power and the doctrine of infallibility.

On the pastoral level, the proposal by the successor to the controversial Bishop James Pike as leader of 103,000 Northern Californian Episcopalians met a restrained response both ways.

"Do you want me to register a look of pleasant surprise?" asked Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph McGuecken Monday as he met reporters and photographers.

He welcomed the Myers proposal, but said he knew many non-Catholics are suspicious of centralized papal power. However, he said, peace, poverty and racial justice "are all fields in which we can come together with a bond of love." He said he had forwarded a copy of Myers' sermon to the Vatican, where sources said the proposal would receive consideration.

In Great Britain, Church of England circles showed no disagreement with the Myers' proposal but it was pointed out that the Anglican position traditionally has been that its chief differences with Rome are in what are regarded as human innovations such as worship of the Virgin Mary and the principle of papal infallibility.

At Stanford University, Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, head of the School of Religion, praised the Myers concept. It may "set certain ecclesiastical teeth on edge," he said, but Myers was only expressing openly "the unspoken yet half-acted impulse" of some Protestants to "use Pope Paul or Pope John as support for our concerns."

"We protestants can see in the papacy, as reconceived by Pope John, an important symbol of a united Christian voice and witness," Brown said.

Date Sought For Teacher, Board Talks

Possible dates for meeting with the East Liverpool Teachers Association to negotiate six points were discussed by the Board of Education Monday night.

The association asked for a meeting with the entire board next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the high school library.

A letter was sent to each board member last week listing the items the association wants to discuss. Clinton McConnell, president, asked that the meeting be set.

Since all the board members cannot be present next week, Supt. Paul Blair was requested to determine if the meeting could be held this Thursday night.

According to a recent agreement signed between the association and the board, items for negotiation are to be presented in writing and a date for a meeting agreed on between the two parties.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, appointed Samuel Brown, Richard Smith and Harry McConville to the negotiating committee, with Brown chairman.

Wounds In Viet Fatal To Aliquippa Captain

WASHINGTON (AP)— Three more Pennsylvanians have been killed in the Vietnam war, the Defense Department said Monday.

They are Army Pfc. Jerald A. Vokish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Vokish, Natrona; Army Pfc. Dennis E. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hoffman of Orwin, and Army Capt. Joseph A. Tomko, husband of Mrs. Barbara Tomko of Aliquippa.

The department said both Vokish and Hoffman were killed in action and Tomko died of wounds.

Small Fruits Day Program Set At Wooster Center

LISBON — Donald H. Scott, who helps originate new varieties of berries, will be the principal speaker for the small fruits day program Thursday at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster.

Dr. Scott, a scientist the last 30 years with the Department of Agriculture, is a leader of small fruit and grape investigations at the Beltsville (Md.) experiment station.

Most of his research in small fruits has been breeding new varieties of strawberries, blueberries, grapes and bramble fruits.

On the afternoon program with Scott will be Dr. Roy M. Kottman, OARDC director; Merrill Rouster, president of the Ohio State Horticultural Society, and Dr. F. S. Howlett, chairman of the Department of Horticulture.

During the morning, visitors will tour research plots. Discussions of specific small fruits research will be conducted every 30 minutes — 9:30 through 11:30 — at tour stops. Subjects will be control of birds, weeds, insects, virus diseases and cultivated varieties of strawberries and bramble fruits.

There will be educational and commercial exhibits. Anyone interested in berry growing is invited. Registration will begin at 9:30 a. m. Lunch will be available on the grounds.

Secrecy Emphasized At Briefing

Swift Outbreak Of War Surprised U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top administration officials acknowledged to congressional leaders that the swift outbreak of Arab-Israeli fighting caught them by surprise, informants say.

It was one of the few reports that filtered out of a Capitol Hill briefing Monday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The need for secrecy was emphasized at the briefing.

"They knew of course how serious the situation was but they thought they had more time to work on it," said one member of Congress who attended.

But Congress members, who often mount the battlements with an oratorical arsenal at the first flash of crisis, generally were following a silence-is-golden course.

"It's a very serious situation and popping off won't help it at all," said one congressional leader.

What comment there was centered on urgings for a cease-fire and U.N. action.

But if congressional concern could not be measured in decibels it could be in numbers.

When an invitation went out to senators to sit in at a late afternoon briefing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by a State Department official more than half the Senate showed up.

Surprised committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright counted 56 senators jammed into the relatively small hearing room a floor down from the Senate chambers.

"It was more than we ever had in the room before," Fulbright told newsmen later.

At the earlier briefing for congressional leaders Rusk had recalled a previous leak and twice cautioned the Congress members against whispering to newsmen what went on.

Again, at the later session, the question of leaks was brought up by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen who reportedly rumbled:: "I'm sick and tired of keeping my big trap shut and having everyone else leak. Is this a secret session or isn't it?"

He was quickly assured by Fulbright and Lucius D. Battle, assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs who conducted the briefing, that it was secret.

But afterward, some of the 56 senators who heard Battle and questioned him, wondered why it was secret. They said they heard little if anything in the briefing they hadn't already learned from news reports.

"What we've read and heard was not much different from what we heard" in the briefing, said Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass.

Fulbright said the meeting should have been open because "there wasn't a thing said that couldn't have been said in the open."

GENUINE ALEXANDRITE

Now that it is travel time again, it will not be too surprising to have customers return from a trip abroad with a gleam in their eyes over an exciting jewelry "bargain" they found in some foreign bazaar. Usually, this gem is what is called "Alexandrite", a rare and phenomenal stone that appears olive green by day and raspberry red under artificial light.

Genuine Alexandrite which was first discovered in 1830 in the Ural Mountains of Russia, is a true collectors item of interest to museums and connoisseurs of gems. Costing hundreds of dollars per carat, it is not likely to be found often in jewelry stores either in this country or elsewhere. What you do see, is either synthetic spinel or synthetic corundum which can also show a slight color change, although it is never of the same intensity and beauty of that exhibited by the natural Alexandrite.

As a member of the American Gem Society, we must always properly identify the mineral origin of the gem we are selling to the customer. Foreign merchants, however are not bound by such rules, and the unwary buyer is sometimes at a disadvantage unless he is practically a gem expert. With the rise in the economic market in other countries today, there is little money advantage to buying expensive items there, particularly stones such as "Alexandrite". They are no bargain! It is much smarter to buy from someone you know, where you have the opportunity of exchanging the merchandise.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do when perspiration odor still clings to washable materials after they have been laundered?

A. — Soak for an hour or more in warm water containing three or four tablespoons of salt for each quart of water. Or, sponge the stained parts with warm water containing a little vinegar, apply powdered pepsin, and work into the cloth. Let stand for several hours, keeping the spot moist, then brush off the pepsin, and rinse by sponging with clear, warm water.

Q. — Do you have any suggestions on how to keep the glass tops of coffee tables gleaming?

A — You can accomplish this with a minimum of work, just by wiping them with a dampened newspaper, then polishing with a dry one. Leaves no lint residue either.

Q. — How can I remove petroleum jelly stains from fabrics?

A. — By rubbing with kerosene. If the stains are very old, soak in kerosene, then rub and wash with soapsuds.

GENUINE ALEXANDRITE

Now that it is travel time again, it will not be too surprising to have customers return from a trip abroad with a gleam in their eyes over an exciting jewelry "bargain" they found in some foreign bazaar. Usually, this gem is what is called "Alexandrite", a rare and phenomenal stone that appears olive green by day and raspberry red under artificial light.

Genuine Alexandrite which was first discovered in 1830 in the Ural Mountains of Russia, is a true collectors item of interest to museums and connoisseurs of gems. Costing hundreds of dollars per carat, it is not likely to be found often in jewelry stores either in this country or elsewhere. What you do see, is either synthetic spinel or synthetic corundum which can also show a slight color change, although it is never of the same intensity and beauty of that exhibited by the natural Alexandrite.

As a member of the American Gem Society, we must always properly identify the mineral origin of the gem we are selling to the customer. Foreign merchants, however are not bound by such rules, and the unwary buyer is sometimes at a disadvantage unless he is practically a gem expert. With the rise in the economic market in other countries today, there is little money advantage to buying expensive items there, particularly stones such as "Alexandrite". They are no bargain! It is much smarter to buy from someone you know, where you have the opportunity of exchanging the merchandise.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do when perspiration odor still clings to washable materials after they have been laundered?

A. — Soak for an hour or more in warm water containing three or four tablespoons of salt for each quart of water. Or, sponge the stained parts with warm water containing a little vinegar, apply powdered pepsin, and work into the cloth. Let stand for several hours, keeping the spot moist, then brush off the pepsin, and rinse by sponging with clear, warm water.

Q. — Do you have any suggestions on how to keep the glass tops of coffee tables gleaming?

A — You can accomplish this with a minimum of work, just by wiping them with a dampened newspaper, then polishing with a dry one. Leaves no lint residue either.

Q. — How can I remove petroleum jelly stains from fabrics?

A. — By rubbing with kerosene. If the stains are very old, soak in kerosene, then rub and wash with soapsuds.

$220 Million Needed

Assembly Eyes Boost In Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature started laying groundwork for higher taxes Monday night at prolonged party caucuses on pending reports of tax and education study groups.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-4 Wood said House members were briefed "on the whole area of taxation" in connection with an administration request for an additional $220 million for education.

The speaker said that any increase in state taxes probably would be confined to education needs but he added "we also may go into local tax structures to solve other problems."

Separate party caucuses received their briefing from party members serving on the Ohio Tax Study Commission, which is trying to complete its report and recommendation before the end of this week.

Kurfess said no attempt was made to go into details on what state taxes might be raised or by how much but he said in his opinion "the increase will be in existing taxes and not new ones."

Mentioned most frequently has been the sales tax and particularly its expansion to include non-professional services.

The unusual Monday night caucuses began the legislature's 22nd work week.

Across the Statehouse, senators passed three bills, and an erroneous vote tabulation resulted in the defeat of a bill by Sen. Ralph Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark, setting a uniform school entrance age.

The tally showed 16-13 with 17 needed for passage but later a check showed Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion voted for the bill but was recorded as casting a "no" vote.

The bill, supported by the State Department of Education, would require that children entering the first grade must be six years old by Sept. 30 beginning with the 1969 school term. The law now fixes the date at Oct. 31.

Regula said the bill still is alive because of a rule permitting defeated measures to be reconsidered by motion of a member who voted on the prevailing side.

Sen. Charles J. Carney D-33 Youngstown and other opponents argued against the measure on grounds youngsters already must wait too long to begin their formal education.

"In Russia, they learn two languages by the time they finish the first grade," Carney asserted, adding: "There's no reason why these kids should have to wait another whole year."

Other bills passed by the Senate would allow municipalities to increase their bonded debt limitation from 1½ to 2½ per cent of property tax value, clarify some provisions in Ohio's two-year-old open end mortgage law, and permit life insurance firms in Ohio to invest up to one half of their earned surplus in other insurance companies.

The House completed passage of a Senate bill to hike fees for pharmacists certificates from $15 every three years to $10 a year. Approved and sent to the Senate were bills to require safety equipment on rented watercraft, permit sale of tent-type trailers at sporting shows, and require tax commissioners to notify financial institutions and county auditors of dates for listing taxable deposits.

House and Senate leaders signed and sent to the governor a bill allowing 18-year-olds to sue and be sued for divorce and alimony and making them serviceable with summonses.

Plans Are Set In Field Trial

Final plans were made for a field trial June 17 during a meeting Monday night of the Chester - Newell Sportsman's Club at the clubhouse on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown.

Kenneth Williams, president, said the trial will begin at 8 a.m., with an entry fee of $1 per dog to be charged. The trial is open to club members only. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in both the 13-inch and 15-inch hound classes. A lunch will be served.

During last night's meeting, Carl Kirkland, game warden, answered questions concerning game laws in West Virginia.

James Michaels, county soil conservation officer, screened slides on the progress of the program in the county and the Tomlinson Run watershed project.

Williams said the club will send three youths to the county conservation outing at Tomlinson Run State Park June 9 and 10.

Fifteen new members were inducted last night. The club's membership now totals 95.

Howard Lyons, chairman of the farm committee, announced all planting in connection with the strip farming program will be completed by June 15.

The group's next meeting will be July 3.

16-Year-Olds Involved In 3 Car Mishaps

Another indication the current school term is in its tag end, 16-year-old drivers were involved in three traffic mishaps in East Liverpool in a space of less than three hours Monday, police reported.

No one was injured in the collisions, which were timed between 10:05 a. m. and 12:57 p.m. —two in the downtown area. One of the young drivers was cited.

A youth's car and two parked autos were damaged in the first of the series of crashes on W. 4th St. at Jackson St.

A 1957 sedan driven by George Salsberry Jr. of 309 Washington St. struck a parked 1960 sedan owned by William Plant of 125 W. 4th St. and a parked auto owned by Jay C. Mason of 145 W. 4th St., officers said.

—:—

THE BOY said he was making a left turn onto W. 4th from Jackson and turned too sharply because he was not accustomed to power steering, causing his auto to hit the two parked cars.

The collision damaged the left front fender and bumper of the Salsberry car, registered to George Salsberry Sr. of the same address; the left rear fender and bumper of the Plant car and the left front fender, grill and side of the Mason auto.

The young motorist was cited on a charge of driving without an operator's license.

A collision at 11:20 a. m. on Broadway at E. 4th St. damaged a 1950 sedan driven by Robert W. Moore, 16, of 1717 Holliday St. and a halted 1964 sedan driven by James Higgins, 24, of Negley R.D. 1.

Higgins reported he was halted for students crossing the street when Moore's car hit his auto from the rear. The crash damaged the grill and bumper of the Moore auto and the splash panel of the Higgins car.

—:—

ANOTHER two - car crash was timed at 12:57 p.m. on Avondale St. at Morton St.

It involved a 1957 sedan driven by Jerry L. Howell, 16, of 1037 Ephriam St. and a parked 1959 model auto owned by William C. Faloon of 912 Avondale St.

The boy said he was driving north on Avondale St. when he pulled to the right to allow more room for an auto that was moving downgrade. In pulling to the right, he struck the parked auto, he said.

The crash damaged the right front fender, bumper and hood of Howell's car, registered to Isabell Keysor of the same Ephriam St. address, and the left rear fender, bumper and trunk of the Faloon auto.

In Hancock Action

Board Questions Unwritten Pacts

The Hancock County Board of Education, by a 3-1 vote, agreed Monday night to seek a legal opinion concerning the validity of the unwritten contracts under which Robert Hall, superintendent, and Dr. Charles McKinney, assistant superintendent, are employed.

This action came near the close of business on a motion from Dr. Eli Weller.

Dr. Weller at last month's session, made a similar motion, but it died for lack of a second.

—:—

DR. WELLER obtained passage of the motion after he informed the board he has obtained an opinion on the question. He said the unwritten contracts are not legal.

Reading from a book of legal opinions, Dr. Weller said the law requires that the two men, "must have a contract and it must be stipulated in writing the length of the contract and salary, and it must be signed by the president of the board as well as the board's secretary".

Dr. Weller said Hall "has shown sufficient acumen and I would be willing to officially renew his contract for another year."

But, Weller, continued, he was not willing to continue Dr. McKinney as assistant superintendent because of a "personality conflict" between himself and McKinney.

Dr. Weller also accused the present school administration of "foot - dragging" on requests made by the board on certain programs. He cited the change in the independent research program at Weir High School as an example. He said it has not been changed by the administration, but came only after the teachers formed a committee and submitted recommendations for program changes.

In other statements, Dr. Weller said the results of the last Board of Education election show the voteds indicated a desire to change the school system.

IN REFERRING to Dr. McKinney's unwritten contract with the board, Dr. Weller said he had a moral and legal right to see that the contract would not be honored after July 1. Further, he said, "the president of the board should not sign checks since he (Dr. McKinney) has no legal contract."

At this, J. P. Morgan balked and said he wanted the legal opinion brought to him. Board member Fred Barnabei said he could not vote against a previous decision to continue Hall and McKinney in their present capacities.

An argument then developed among Dr. Weller and the two board members. At several points, John Paul Jones, board president, rapped the gavel for order as Dr. Weller repeatedly asked both men to seek the legal opinion.

Dr. Weller and Barnabei became embroiled in an argument concerning the term "ruffled feathers" that reportedly appeared in an Ohio County daily which carried a story concerning one of the board's meetings. Barnabei denied he had given that information to the paper or had used the term.

Before the vote was taken, Dr. Weller became engaged in a discussion with the president of the County Council of PTA's concerning his reasons for taking such a stand. Mrs. Ted Cwiczynski indicated she did not agree with his contention the vote he received indicated the people wanted this change.

The athletic committee was authorized to purchase supplies for the 1967-68 school year — All American Co., $10; Sporting Goods Inc. of New Castle, $1,264; LaSalle Products of Pittsburgh, $261; Jerry's Auto of Midland, $1,461; and Northway Sporting Good of Pittsburgh, $7.50, for a total of $3,004.

This year's budget is $420,273.45 higher than last year's budget, due to salary increases for teaching personnel, including an increase in the beginning teachers wage from $4,600 to $5,100 and payment of 1.5 mills of assessed value to the Community College. Real estate millage was raised from 33 to 35 mills to cover the difference.

Mayor Suspends Latrobe Chief In Advertising Sale

A minor tempest kicked up in East Liverpool three months ago when a promoter attempted to sell advertising space to a local trucking firm has played a role in suspension of Police Chief Chester A. College of Latrobe.

Mayor William S. McGuire, in ordering the chief's suspension, said it was connected with an investigation of a safety book promotion in which College was involved.

The commotion was stirred up locally when an East End trucking firm complained to the local police department the promoter, working out of Latrobe by telephone, had asked it to contribute $1,500 toward publication of the "safety booklet" celebrating nearly 10 years without a fatal traffic acident in the Pennsylvania community.

Latrobe Council has been called into special session tonight to hear Mayor McGuire's report on his investigation of the book promotion.

$220 Million Needed

Assembly Eyes Boost In Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature started laying groundwork for higher taxes Monday night at prolonged party caucuses on pending reports of tax and education study groups.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-4 Wood said House members were briefed "on the whole area of taxation" in connection with an administration request for an additional $220 million for education.

The speaker said that any increase in state taxes probably would be confined to education needs but he added "we also may go into local tax structures to solve other problems."

Separate party caucuses received their briefing from party members serving on the Ohio Tax Study Commission, which is trying to complete its report and recommendation before the end of this week.

Kurfess said no attempt was made to go into details on what state taxes might be raised or by how much but he said in his opinion "the increase will be in existing taxes and not new ones."

Mentioned most frequently has been the sales tax and particularly its expansion to include non-professional services.

The unusual Monday night caucuses began the legislature's 22nd work week.

Across the Statehouse, senators passed three bills, and an erroneous vote tabulation resulted in the defeat of a bill by Sen. Ralph Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark, setting a uniform school entrance age.

The tally showed 16-13 with 17 needed for passage but later a check showed Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion voted for the bill but was recorded as casting a "no" vote.

The bill, supported by the State Department of Education, would require that children entering the first grade must be six years old by Sept. 30 beginning with the 1969 school term. The law now fixes the date at Oct. 31.

Regula said the bill still is alive because of a rule permitting defeated measures to be reconsidered by motion of a member who voted on the prevailing side.

Sen. Charles J. Carney D-33 Youngstown and other opponents argued against the measure on grounds youngsters already must wait too long to begin their formal education.

"In Russia, they learn two languages by the time they finish the first grade," Carney asserted, adding: "There's no reason why these kids should have to wait another whole year."

Other bills passed by the Senate would allow municipalities to increase their bonded debt limitation from 1½ to 2½ per cent of property tax value, clarify some provisions in Ohio's two-year-old open end mortgage law, and permit life insurance firms in Ohio to invest up to one half of their earned surplus in other insurance companies.

The House completed passage of a Senate bill to hike fees for pharmacists certificates from $15 every three years to $10 a year. Approved and sent to the Senate were bills to require safety equipment on rented watercraft, permit sale of tent-type trailers at sporting shows, and require tax commissioners to notify financial institutions and county auditors of dates for listing taxable deposits.

House and Senate leaders signed and sent to the governor a bill allowing 18-year-olds to sue and be sued for divorce and alimony and making them serviceable with summonses.

Plans Are Set In Field Trial

Final plans were made for a field trial June 17 during a meeting Monday night of the Chester - Newell Sportsman's Club at the clubhouse on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown.

Kenneth Williams, president, said the trial will begin at 8 a.m., with an entry fee of $1 per dog to be charged. The trial is open to club members only. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in both the 13-inch and 15-inch hound classes. A lunch will be served.

During last night's meeting, Carl Kirkland, game warden, answered questions concerning game laws in West Virginia.

James Michaels, county soil conservation officer, screened slides on the progress of the program in the county and the Tomlinson Run watershed project.

Williams said the club will send three youths to the county conservation outing at Tomlinson Run State Park June 9 and 10.

Fifteen new members were inducted last night. The club's membership now totals 95.

Howard Lyons, chairman of the farm committee, announced all planting in connection with the strip farming program will be completed by June 15.

The group's next meeting will be July 3.

16-Year-Olds Involved In 3 Car Mishaps

Another indication the current school term is in its tag end, 16-year-old drivers were involved in three traffic mishaps in East Liverpool in a space of less than three hours Monday, police reported.

No one was injured in the collisions, which were timed between 10:05 a. m. and 12:57 p.m. —two in the downtown area. One of the young drivers was cited.

A youth's car and two parked autos were damaged in the first of the series of crashes on W. 4th St. at Jackson St.

A 1957 sedan driven by George Salsberry Jr. of 309 Washington St. struck a parked 1960 sedan owned by William Plant of 125 W. 4th St. and a parked auto owned by Jay C. Mason of 145 W. 4th St., officers said.

—:—

THE BOY said he was making a left turn onto W. 4th from Jackson and turned too sharply because he was not accustomed to power steering, causing his auto to hit the two parked cars.

The collision damaged the left front fender and bumper of the Salsberry car, registered to George Salsberry Sr. of the same address; the left rear fender and bumper of the Plant car and the left front fender, grill and side of the Mason auto.

The young motorist was cited on a charge of driving without an operator's license.

A collision at 11:20 a. m. on Broadway at E. 4th St. damaged a 1950 sedan driven by Robert W. Moore, 16, of 1717 Holliday St. and a halted 1964 sedan driven by James Higgins, 24, of Negley R.D. 1.

Higgins reported he was halted for students crossing the street when Moore's car hit his auto from the rear. The crash damaged the grill and bumper of the Moore auto and the splash panel of the Higgins car.

—:—

ANOTHER two - car crash was timed at 12:57 p.m. on Avondale St. at Morton St.

It involved a 1957 sedan driven by Jerry L. Howell, 16, of 1037 Ephriam St. and a parked 1959 model auto owned by William C. Faloon of 912 Avondale St.

The boy said he was driving north on Avondale St. when he pulled to the right to allow more room for an auto that was moving downgrade. In pulling to the right, he struck the parked auto, he said.

The crash damaged the right front fender, bumper and hood of Howell's car, registered to Isabell Keysor of the same Ephriam St. address, and the left rear fender, bumper and trunk of the Faloon auto.

Board Questions Unwritten Pacts

The Hancock County Board of Education, by a 3-1 vote, agreed Monday night to seek a legal opinion concerning the validity of the unwritten contracts under which Robert Hall, superintendent, and Dr. Charles McKinney, assistant superintendent, are employed.

This action came near the close of business on a motion from Dr. Eli Weller.

Dr. Weller at last month's session, made a similar motion, but it died for lack of a second.

—:—

DR. WELLER obtained passage of the motion after he informed the board he has obtained an opinion on the question. He said the unwritten contracts are not legal.

Reading from a book of legal opinions, Dr. Weller said the law requires that the two men, "must have a contract and it must be stipulated in writing the length of the contract and salary, and it must be signed by the president of the board as well as the board's secretary".

Dr. Weller said Hall "has shown sufficient acumen and I would be willing to officially renew his contract for another year."

But, Weller, continued, he was not willing to continue Dr. McKinney as assistant superintendent because of a "personality conflict" between himself and McKinney.

Dr. Weller also accused the present school administration of "foot - dragging" on requests made by the board on certain programs. He cited the change in the independent research program at Weir High School as an example. He said it has not been changed by the administration, but came only after the teachers formed a committee and submitted recommendations for program changes.

In other statements, Dr. Weller said the results of the last Board of Education election show the voteds indicated a desire to change the school system.

IN REFERRING to Dr. McKinney's unwritten contract with the board, Dr. Weller said he had a moral and legal right to see that the contract would not be honored after July 1. Further, he said, "the president of the board should not sign checks since he (Dr. McKinney) has no legal contract."

At this, J. P. Morgan balked and said he wanted the legal opinion brought to him. Board member Fred Barnabei said he could not vote against a previous decision to continue Hall and McKinney in their present capacities.

An argument then developed among Dr. Weller and the two board members. At several points, John Paul Jones, board president, rapped the gavel for order as Dr. Weller repeatedly asked both men to seek the legal opinion.

Dr. Weller and Barnabei became embroiled in an argument concerning the term "ruffled feathers" that reportedly appeared in an Ohio County daily which carried a story concerning one of the board's meetings. Barnabei denied he had given that information to the paper or had used the term.

Before the vote was taken, Dr. Weller became engaged in a discussion with the president of the County Council of PTA's concerning his reasons for taking such a stand. Mrs. Ted Cwiczynski indicated she did not agree with his contention the vote he received indicated the people wanted this change.

Mayor Suspends Latrobe Chief In Advertising Sale

A minor tempest kicked up in East Liverpool three months ago when a promoter attempted to sell advertising space to a local trucking firm has played a role in suspension of Police Chief Chester A. College of Latrobe.

Mayor William S. McGuire, in ordering the chief's suspension, said it was connected with an investigation of a safety book promotion in which College was involved.

The commotion was stirred up locally when an East End trucking firm complained to the local police department the promoter, working out of Latrobe by telephone, had asked it to contribute $1,500 toward publication of the "safety booklet" celebrating nearly 10 years without a fatal traffic acident in the Pennsylvania community.

Miss Barbara Recker of Aliquippa, English and public speaking teacher, resigned to accept a position in the North Hills District near Pittsburgh. She also plans to marry.

Mrs. Catherine M. Andrews of Georgetown, secretary in the supervising principal's office for five years, has accepted a secretary post at the Beaver Campus of Pennsylvania State University.

She will remain as school board secretary.

Mrs. Rowena Bishop of Hookstown R. D. 1 resigned as secretary to the high school principal.

Petroleum Solvents Co. of Butler was awarded a contract for fuel oil for the 1967-68 school year at 10.4 cents a gallon delivered.

Custodians were authorized to attend a Beaver County maintenance supervisors workshop June 22-23 at Rochester.

A budget of $723,572 adopted tentatively in May is to be considered at the next meeting July 3 or possibly at an earlier special meeting.

The budget is $38,654 less than the budget of 1966-67, Victor Thomas, supervising principal said. He explained federal funds for Elementary and Secondary Education Act programs for two years were included in the budget last year.

Findings Both Favorable And Unfavorable

Reports On Schools Given Board

Both favorable and unfavorable findings were contained in a report of an inspection made of city schools by a representative of the Ohio Department of Education. The schools, however, have been continued on the approval list by the department.

The reports were reviewed during a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

Doyle K. Shumaker, education consultant, visited the high school May 4 and 5, Westgate Junior High and Elementary School Jan. 25 and 26 and East Junior High Jan. 27.

—:—

THE PURPOSE was to evaluate the schools on the basis of the Ohio High School Standards.

Shumaker commended the staffs and administrators at the schools for providing "as effective an educational program for the boys and girls as possible within the existing limitations." He said the new high school under construction should bring about several corrective improvements.

The report showed that with one exception the teachers in the high school are properly assigned and certificated. Classroom instruction was rated from satisfactory to excellent.

Shumaker pointed out the district's financial difficulties and declared "it is hoped that the parents and others will carefully and thoughtfully consider proposals. Boys and girls pay the price in lost irretrievable educational opportunities when school districts retrench or cut back rather than plan for continued progress."

He urged the employment of an assistant principal, stating that additional time is needed by the principal to engage in departmental articulation, curriculum supervision and development and direction of the overall program.

The report pointed out program development has been restricted, but noted that two new programs — electronics and Junior ROTC — were added this year.

THE REPORT urged departmental meetings, additional educational equipment, special education programs for high school students, more attention for students who do not plan to attend college, exclusion from the guidance program of several responsibilities that are not functions of the guidance staff and strengthening of the library services.

The survey did not consider the availability of Carnegie Library as has been done in the past. It listed the present collection of books as unsatisfactory and urged considerable more volumes be added.

Shumaker also suggested adding music work to the permanent records of the pupils.

His report recommended more time for the study of Ohio History at both East Junior and Westgate. The survey also shows the libraries at both schools are not sufficient, he said.

At East Junior, the classes principally involving seventh grade enrollments were ruled excessive. Consideration of sectioning was suggested.

Two teachers at East Junior were assigned areas without the required certification and preparation. The school does not provide a comprehensive guidance program as required, Shumaker said.

Shumaker commended the capable leadership and administration of East Junior and noted the high morale and spirit of both the faculty and students.

HE LAUDED an instructional program that focuses special attention toward meeting variable student needs, but said the program is not complimented with necessary student services, including professional guidance and library personnel.

He said the present curriculum has deficiencies which adversely affect the concept of junior highs, including limited art, limited home economics and only one offering for ninth - grade science. He said the investigation also shows a need for additional educational equipment and materials.

The administrative leadership at Westgate also was commended. Shumaker praised the programs designed to meet varying needs such as tutoring, a reading laboratory, use of CATV, and a three-track curriculum program.

He said essential school services are limited and suggested the need for a part-time coordinator for audio and visual materials.

He said development of special education programs would help the overall program.

Shumaker's report also cited as particularly noteworthy the student handbook developed at Westgate.

Harry McConville, board member, said all the improvements could be made if there was sufficient money.

Members informally agreed to continue the study to determine what can be done to correct some of the problems and meet the recommendations.

Board Approves Repairs At School Buildings Here

Summer repair and maintenance projects, including interior painting contracts totaling $11,414, were approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

Fersch's Paint & Wallpaper Co. received contracts for work at six buildings totaling $10,189. They are: Garfield, $1,072.50; Horace Mann, $1,647.50; Lincoln, $590; Central, $2,688; Westgate, $2,820, and East Junior High, $1,371.

Hollis Logue Painting and Decorating received a contract for $1,225 for painting some of the rooms at McKinley.

The report was presented by Jack Woomer, board member. It was pointed out that only the areas necessary for health and cleanliness reasons are being painted.

One coat of paint will be applied, with the exception of East Junior and Westgate, where two coats will be used.

Johnson Brothers was awarded a contract for painting the metal on the roofs at East Junior and Westgate at a total cost of $400 — $100 at East Junior and $300 at Westgate.

The outside woodwork, classroom doors and gymnasium will be painted at Westgate. The stage floors will be sanded at both schools.

The money will come from the repair and maintenance fund.

The board said the one coat of paint at the old schools "will brighten the rooms so they will not be so depressing."

The coming year will probably be the final year the buildings will be used, since new schools are being constructed.

The board agreed to advertise for bids for installing air-conditioning at Westgate auditorium. Richard Smth, board member, sad he feels it is very necessary since the auditorium is used extensively for community functions. The money would come from the repair and maintenance fund.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Rita Returns—Temporarily

Five years ago Rita Moreno left Hollywood because she was disgusted with the town and desperate over her career. The Oscar she packed with her had turned into a symbol of her frustration.

Hal Humphrey

Rita won it in 1961 for the supporting role of Anita in "West Side Story," but it did nothing for her.

"I hung around for a year after that, and all they offered me was more Latin spitfire roles, which was mostly what I'd had before 'West Side Story.' You remember. I was always the girl with the flaring nostrils and those blasted sandals," Rita recalls.

-:-

INDEED I DO remember. In one week of February 1959 Rita was seen on TV as spitfire Lola Montez in a "Wells Fargo" episode, as a "fiery half-breed" in "Trackdown," and in a "Zane Grey Theater" she was what the press agent referred to as "a Mexican hot tamale."

So, after five years, Rita is back and we meet at Universal studios where she is filming a "Run for Your Life" episode in which she again is called Anita. The only thing missing is the sandals.

"Right!" shouts Rita, laughing over this newest twist of what seems to be her fate in Hollywood. "At least I finally got rid of the blasted sandals. I'm a lady this time and wear shoes. I'm trying to save my husband from Castro's Cuba."

-:-

WHY COME all the way from New York City, where Rita now lives, to be even a well-shod Latin lady spitfire?

"Well, first, it's important to do TV," she replies, then adds, "and besides, my mother hadn't seen the baby. Here, look at these pictures of her. Isn't she beautiful?

"Her name is Fernanda Lu Gordon. She's only 7 months old, but I keep telling her, 'Fernanda, you're a Jew-Rican, so get used to it and be proud of it.' That's what I tell her."

Fernanda's father is Dr. Leonard Gordon, whom Rita met after returning from a six-month sojourn in London where she had gone with a girl friend to get the smell of Hollywood out of her "flaring nostrils."

SHE HAD LANDED a feature role in Hal Prince's London production of "She Loves Me," then was called to New York to audition for a role in "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window," which she got.

"A lady psychiatrist friend of mine introduced me to Leonard and we were married two years ago. I've never been so happy. When I wasn't busy having the baby, I was doing lots of stock theater.

"At least in the theater they let you read for a role. It's the only place they don't type me as the Latin American spitfire. In 'Brustein's Window' I was a Jewish girl, and I'm about to read for two coming Broadway shows and neither are Latins," says Rita, who was born Rosita Delores Alverio in Humacao, Puerto Rico.

AS RITA points out, Latin Americans haven't even enjoyed the token employment in TV and movies which Negroes have now, unless of course, she grimly adds, "someone is looking for a quote 'colorful' unquote villain or menace with gold teeth."

"When I was first suggested to Hal Prince for the 'She Loves Me' part, he was sure I wasn't the type, but he let me read for it. Afterward he was big enough to say to me, 'I was wrong,' and let me play it," Rita says.

It's a well known fact in the trade that Latin Americans for a long time have been unacceptable to Madison Avenue and hence the networks. The reasoning, if it can be called that, is vague and irrational, but the results cannot be denied. How many Latin Americans are in regular TV series, for example?

SEVERAL YEARS AGO Gilbert Roland and Ricardo Montalban both made pilots for series, neither of which were sold. Even a shoot 'em-up pilot with Pedro Amendariz as Pancho Villa found no buyers at a time when shoot-'em-ups were TV's main diet.

Years ago Rita was called in and offered the role of "Eurasian girl" for a TV pilot. She was so disgusted with the pidgin English dialogue she turned it down and told the producer, "This part doesn't call for an actress—just a girl filled with formaldehyde."

"But I'll go on whistling 'America' and see if anything happens," Rita adds.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a little hint to help in the kitchen. It saves cleaning another pot and might come in handy when you are using all four burners on your stove and need one more . . . All of my family loves rice except my husband.

So before cooking rice (not instant, but the kind you simmer 25 minutes) I peel one potato and cut it in quarters.

Then, after I bring the water to a boil, I stir in the rice and put the potato, piece by piece, gently in the water on top of the rice.

Next . . . on goes the lid, the burner is turned on simmer, and by the time my rice is done I also have a steamed potato. And the rice comes out absolutely perfect. It's never soggy because the potato takes up the extra moisture.

MRS. E. SCHOPF.

Well, Mrs. Schopf, you really hit the nail on the head. I tried it and it's absolutely great. (I presumed that you just picked out your potatoes with your forceps before you stirred the rice and served it.)

Another way to grab a fifth burner out of the air is to use a double boiler:

You can cook carrots (or any vegetable) in the bottom of a double boiler and dump a can of peas, etc. in the top.

And remember, folks, canned peas are NOT supposed to be cooked. Canned peas are only supposed to be HEATED. Never let 'em boil.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I've found the best way to keep down weeds in a rock garden is to put on MORE broken rock — preferably about ⅜" in diameter.

This will allow good drainage and the minerals in the stones are valuable to the plants.

I have a rock garden with several hundred plants and I don't spend half an hour a week weeding.

L. HOCHHEIMER.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a bright idea for your trips this coming summer.

When you pack, always put a pillowcase in your suitcase for soiled clothes. The soiled clothes go into the pillowcase and right to the washing machine when you get home.

It makes unpacking a lot easier knowing everything left in the suitcase is clean.

This has been a great help to me.

R. SCOTT.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is another wonderful idea for nylon net.

If you have hanging flower baskets and have trouble with the peat moss falling out, just take out the peat moss and the plant, line the inside of the basket with nylon net, then replace the peat moss and plant.

No more wasted peat moss or mess to clean up.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When that fringe on your yard umbrella needs replacing, use white oilcloth or upholstery plastic.

Make the new fringe by cutting strips of the plastic and making little slits all along one side like a haircomb. Then fasten it to the umbrella with a stapler.

This looks nice and lasts so much longer than cotton fringe.

I just fixed mine so it's ready for the coming season and am very pleased with the results.

MAMIE CRAWFORD.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who wear elastic hose and have difficulty slipping them on, try dusting a little powder in them and it will make the hose go on so much easier.

J. C. B.

DEAR HELOISE: Before I butter my cake pans and other baking dishes, I put them in the oven or over the pilot light for a few minutes. This warms up the pans and makes it easier to spread hard butter or margarine on them.

MRS. E. HOLLAND

Sheppard Wins Round In Bid To Resume Practice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A suit asking $3 million in damages has been filed against U.S. Steel Corp. in U.S. District Court here by a Texas engineer acquitted in the death of a USS executive.

Jan Ronald Guy, 28, of Lubbock, filed the suit Monday charging the trial and subsequent publicity hurt his reputation and subjected him to "job and employment discrimination in violation of his civil rights."

Guy was acquitted in January, 1966, in the death of Alfred S. Price Jr., who was killed on March 30, 1965, when he plunged nine stories from a downtown Pittsburgh hotel.

Guy's suit contends he came to Pittsburgh at U.S. Steel's invitation for a tour of the Edgar Thomson works where Price was personnel director.

Pact Of Strike-Hit Gas Firm Extended

CINCINNATI (AP) — The contract of the strike-bound Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. with the union representing its gas department workers has been extended through June 20.

Local No. 1347 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck C. G. & E. on May 10 after its contract expired. The gas employes are represented by Local 12049 of the United Mine Workers Union, which agreed Monday to extend its contract while talks continue.

The gas employes have been respecting IBEW picket lines and the utility company's engineers and supervisory employes have been providing service to customers.

U.S. Steel Sued For $3 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Cleveland, Ohio, osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard has won the first round in an attempt to resume practice.

A state board of examiners ruled Monday that Sheppard may practice osteopathy in California providing he qualifies by passing oral and written examinations within six months.

Sheppard, 42, lost his license Jan. 14, 1958, after he was convicted in Cleveland for second-degree murder in the slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. Sheppard later won a retrial and was acquitted on Nov. 16, 1966.

Since then he has moved to Glendale, Calif.

Sheppard appeared before the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners here May 25 and testified he had performed an average of 500 operations a year during seven of his 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary. He also reported he had been supplied current medical texts.

Municipalities Would Lose 38% Under Tax Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipalities would have to return 35 per cent of the income taxes they collect from non-residents employed within boundaries under a substitute bill now pending in the legislature.

A subcommittee of the House Local Government, Urban Affairs Committee reported the measure out Monday night. It was changed by the subcommittee from a proposal for 50-50 sharing.

Chairman Jim Thorpe R-90 Alliance, Stark, said he would call for testimony from supporters and opponents at a Wednesday night session with action by the full committee possible at that time.

The modified bill would require that when a person is subject to an income tax in the municipality where he works must pay the suburb where he resides at least 35 per cent of the lower of the two taxes after Jan. 1, 1969.

Both communities must levy a tax, however, and municipalities could adopt ordinances against sharing. In the latter case, the municipality where the taxpayer resides must grant him a credit for taxes paid where he works.

The bill also raises from 1 per cent to 1½ per cent the maximum tax which may be enacted without voter approval. That provision would be effective Jan. 1, 1969 in municipalities which agree to share.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Rita Returns—Temporarily

Five years ago Rita Moreno left Hollywood because she was disgusted with the town and desperate over her career. The Oscar she packed with her had turned into a symbol of her frustration.

Hal Humphrey

Rita won it in 1961 for the supporting role of Anita in "West Side Story," but it did nothing for her.

"I hung around for a year after that, and all they offered me was more Latin spitfire roles, which was mostly what I'd had before 'West Side Story.' You remember. I was always the girl with the flaring nostrils and those blasted sandals," Rita recalls.

INDEED I DO remember. In one week of February 1959 Rita was seen on TV as spitfire Lola Montez in a "Wells Fargo" episode, as a "fiery half-breed" in "Trackdown," and in a "Zane Grey Theater" she was what the press agent referred to as "a Mexican hot tamale."

So, after five years, Rita is back and we meet at Universal studios where she is filming a "Run for Your Life" episode in which she again is called Anita. The only thing missing is the sandals.

"Right!" shouts Rita, laughing over this newest twist of what seems to be her fate in Hollywood. "At least I finally got rid of the blasted sandals. I'm a lady this time and wear shoes. I'm trying to save my husband from Castro's Cuba."

-:-

WHY COME all the way from New York City, where Rita now lives, to be even a well-shod Latin lady spitfire?

"Well, first, it's important to do TV," she replies, then adds, "and besides, my mother hadn't seen the baby. Here, look at these pictures of her. Isn't she beautiful?

"Her name is Fernanda Lu Gordon. She's only 7 months old, but I keep telling her, 'Fernanda, you're a Jew-Rican, so get used to it and be proud of it.' That's what I tell her."

Fernanda's father is Dr. Leonard Gordon, whom Rita met after returning from a six-month sojourn in London where she had gone with a girl friend to get the smell of Hollywood out of her "flaring nostrils."

SHE HAD LANDED a feature role in Hal Prince's London production of "She Loves Me," then was called to New York to audition for a role in "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window," which she got.

"A lady psychiatrist friend of mine introduced me to Leonard and we were married two years ago. I've never been so happy. When I wasn't busy having the baby, I was doing lots of stock theater.

"At least in the theater they let you read for a role. It's the only place they don't type me as the Latin American spitfire. In 'Brustein's Window' I was a Jewish girl, and I'm about to read for two coming Broadway shows and neither are Latins," says Rita, who was born Rosita Delores Alverio in Humacao, Puerto Rico.

AS RITA points out, Latin Americans haven't even enjoyed the token employment in TV and movies which Negroes have now, unless of course, she grimly adds, "someone is looking for a quote 'colorful' unquote villain or menace with gold teeth."

"When I was first suggested to Hal Prince for the 'She Loves Me' part, he was sure I wasn't the type, but he let me read for it. Afterward he was big enough to say to me, 'I was wrong,' and let me play it," Rita says.

It's a well known fact in the trade that Latin Americans for a long time have been unacceptable to Madison Avenue and hence the networks. The reasoning, if it can be called that, is vague and irrational, but the results cannot be denied. How many Latin Americans are in regular TV series, for example?

SEVERAL YEARS AGO Gilbert Roland and Ricardo Montalban both made pilots for series, neither of which were sold. Even a shoot 'em-up pilot with Pedro Amendariz as Pancho Villa found no buyers at a time when shoot-'em-ups were TV's main diet.

Years ago Rita was called in and offered the role of "Eurasian girl" for a TV pilot. She was so disgusted with the pidgin English dialogue she turned it down and told the producer, "This part doesn't call for an actress—just a girl filled with formaldehyde."

"But I'll go on whistling 'America' and see if anything happens," Rita adds.

Sheppard Wins Round In Bid To Resume Practice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A suit asking $3 million in damages has been filed against U.S. Steel Corp. in U.S. District Court here by a Texas engineer acquitted in the death of a USS executive.

Jan Ronald Guy, 28, of Lubbock, filed the suit Monday charging the trial and subsequent publicity hurt his reputation and subjected him to "job and employment discrimination in violation of his civil rights."

Guy was acquitted in January, 1966, in the death of Alfred S. Price Jr., who was killed on March 30, 1965, when he plunged nine stories from a downtown Pittsburgh hotel.

Guy's suit contends he came to Pittsburgh at U.S. Steel's invitation for a tour of the Edgar Thomson works where Price was personnel director.

Pact Of Strike-Hit Gas Firm Extended

CINCINNATI (AP) — The contract of the strike-bound Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. with the union representing its gas department workers has been extended through June 20.

Local No. 1347 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck C. G. & E. on May 10 after its contract expired. The gas employes are represented by Local 12049 of the United Mine Workers Union, which agreed Monday to extend its contract while talks continue.

The gas employes have been respecting IBEW picket lines and the utility company's engineers and supervisory employes have been providing service to customers.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a little hint to help in the kitchen. It saves cleaning another pot and might come in handy when you are using all four burners on your stove and need one more . . . All of my family loves rice except my husband.

So before cooking rice (not instant, but the kind you simmer 25 minutes) I peel one potato and cut it in quarters.

Then, after I bring the water to a boil, I stir in the rice and put the potato, piece by piece, gently in the water on top of the rice.

Next . . . on goes the lid, the burner is turned on simmer, and by the time my rice is done I also have a steamed potato. And the rice comes out absolutely perfect. It's never soggy because the potato takes up the extra moisture.

MRS. E. SCHOPF.

Well, Mrs. Schopf, you really hit the nail on the head. I tried it and it's absolutely great. (I presumed that you just picked out your potatoes with your forceps before you stirred the rice and served it.)

Another way to grab a fifth burner out of the air is to use a double boiler:

You can cook carrots (or any vegetable) in the bottom of a double boiler and dump a can of peas, etc. in the top.

And remember, folks, canned peas are NOT supposed to be cooked. Canned peas are only supposed to be HEATED. Never let 'em boil.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I've found the best way to keep down weeds in a rock garden is to put on MORE broken rock — preferably about ⅜" in diameter.

This will allow good drainage and the minerals in the stones are valuable to the plants.

I have a rock garden with several hundred plants and I don't spend half an hour a week weeding.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a bright idea for your trips this coming summer.

When you pack, always put a pillowcase in your suitcase for soiled clothes. The soiled clothes go into the pillowcase and right to the washing machine when you get home.

It makes unpacking a lot easier knowing everything left in the suitcase is clean.

This has been a great help to me.

R. SCOTT.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is another wonderful idea for nylon net.

If you have hanging flower baskets and have trouble with the peat moss falling out, just take out the peat moss and the plant, line the inside of the basket with nylon net, then replace the peat moss and plant.

No more wasted peat moss or mess to clean up.

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When that fringe on your yard umbrella needs replacing, use white oilcloth or upholstery plastic.

Make the new fringe by cutting strips of the plastic and making little slits all along one side like a haircomb. Then fasten it to the umbrella with a stapler.

This looks nice and lasts so much longer than cotton fringe.

I just fixed mine so it's ready for the coming season and am very pleased with the results.

MAMIE CRAWFORD.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who wear elastic hose and have difficulty slipping them on, try dusting a little powder in them and it will make the hose go on so much easier.

J. C. B.

DEAR HELOISE: Before I butter my cake pans and other baking dishes, I put them in the oven or over the pilot light for a few minutes. This warms up the pans and makes it easier to spread hard butter or margarine on them.

U.S. Steel Sued For $3 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Cleveland, Ohio, osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard has won the first round in an attempt to resume practice.

A state board of examiners ruled Monday that Sheppard may practice osteopathy in California providing he qualifies by passing oral and written examinations within six months.

Sheppard, 42, lost his license Jan. 14, 1958, after he was convicted in Cleveland for second-degree murder in the slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. Sheppard later won a retrial and was acquitted on Nov. 16, 1966.

Since then he has moved to Glendale, Calif.

Sheppard appeared before the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners here May 25 and testified he had performed an average of 500 operations a year during seven of his 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary. He also reported he had been supplied current medical texts.

Municipalities Would Lose 38% Under Tax Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipalities would have to return 35 per cent of the income taxes they collect from non-residents employed within boundaries under a substitute bill now pending in the legislature.

A subcommittee of the House Local Government, Urban Affairs Committee reported the measure out Monday night. It was changed by the subcommittee from a proposal for 50-50 sharing.

Chairman Jim Thorpe R-90 Alliance, Stark, said he would call for testimony from supporters and opponents at a Wednesday night session with action by the full committee possible at that time.

The modified bill would require that when a person is subject to an income tax in the municipality where he works must pay the suburb where he resides at least 35 per cent of the lower of the two taxes after Jan. 1, 1969.

Both communities must levy a tax, however, and municipalities could adopt ordinances against sharing. In the latter case, the municipality where the taxpayer resides must grant him a credit for taxes paid where he works.

The bill also raises from 1 per cent to 1½ per cent the maximum tax which may be enacted without voter approval. That provision would be effective Jan. 1, 1969 in municipalities which agree to share.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the mother of two small children. We recently moved to a new house which I love, but staying home seven days and seven nights a week, 24 hours a day is driving me buggy.

On weekends when my husband is home and my children are napping I've asked him for permission to go next door for a cup of coffee with my neighbors. He says it's not necessary — that a woman should not be gadding about, that her place is in the home.

My husband leaves at 8 a.m. and returns at 6 p.m. He bowls two nights a week. I feel it's only fair that I get out once in awhile. If I'm wrong, please tell me. If he's wrong, please tell him.—TIED DOWN.

Dear Tied: He didn't write, so I'm not going to tell him anything. But I'm going to tell you to find a sitter and go with him on one of the bowling nights, even if just to sit and observe. Or join a sewing circle, or a church group or a book review club — something that will provide intellectual stimulation and a change of scenery. And don't say you can't afford a sitter. It's cheaper than a psychiatrist.

Advice To Teen-Ager

Dear Ann: Let me begin by saying I'm a 14-year-old girl and I don't know anything about the subject I'm writing about. I mean veneral disease. I only know what I have read in magazines, and that's not much.

Can a person get V.D. from kissing someone who has a sore on his lip? Can a person get V.D. from the member of the same sex or does it have to be from a member of the opposite sex? For example, could I get V.D. from kissing my aunt?

How can a person tell if he has V.D. without going to a doctor? Where would a teenager go for treatment if he didn't want his parents to know?

Please give me some information. I feel very ignorant and I can't talk to any adult about this. The kids in my crowd don't know any more than I do and they'd like some information, too. Thanks for your help. — CURIOUS AND NEEDING ANSWERS.

Dear Curious: First, it is possible to get V.D. from a person (male or female) who has a sore on the lip, but most people do not get it that way. The sore that spreads V.D. is an active chancre, which means the person with the sore has V.D. It is never a good idea to kiss anyone who has an eruption of any kind. Even if it isn't V.D. you don't need it, whatever it is.

It is risky business to try to diagnose your own illness so I'll not describe V.D.symptoms. If there's any question in your mind, go to your family doctor. He will in all probability treat you and not tell your parents.

Or go to the city or county health department where they will be happy to treat you free of charge and not snitch if you ask them not to. (This is the way it is in Chicago and in most other cities.).

And while we are on the subject, I'd like to urge all teen-agers to cooperate fully with the health officials when they ask you to name your friends. This is not ratfinking. It's your duty to tell the health officer where you have been and with whom. The only way to eradicate V.D. is to track down the sources of infection and everyone who can, should help.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

General Hits At Charges Of Canal's Foes

WASHINGTON (Special)—The proposed Ohio River-Lake Erie Canal would not lower the water level of Lake Erie, contribute to the pollution of that lake, violate the boundary water treaty with Canada, cost appreciably more than previously announced estimates, or provide a windfall of profits to its promoters.

This was the testimony of Brig. Gen. Willard Roper, division engineer, Cincinnati, before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee recently, and made public Monday.

Under questioning by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown, subcommittee chairman and chief promoter of the canal, Gen. Roper answered to Kirwan's satisfaction charges which have been made by the canal's opponents.

KIRWAN asked the general to comment on the charge of the New York Power authority that the canal would so lower the water level of Lake Erie as to cause a $5 million annual loss of electric power revenues at Niagara Falls.

"We are aware of the necessity for avoiding diversion of water from Lake Erie," the general replied. "There are many ways this problem can be overcome. For example, the reservoir system could be filled entirely from the Mahoning River drainage area. On the north slope this water would be allowed to come down through the locks to Lake Erie and part of it would be borrowed back again to keep the lock system going. We are confident we can build this project in a way which will have no adverse effect on the Great Lakes."

Kirwan asked about reported violation of the 54 - year - old boundary water treaty with Canada. Roper said, "we would design it, build it, and operate it strictly in accordance with the treaty."

The general answered a third question: "The project would have no adverse effect on pollution in Lake Erie."

OPPONENTS of the canal have noted a recent small contract in connection with the canal's advance planning, was awarded by the engineers at $74,935 which was 7 per cent more than earlier estimates. The opponents had projected this seven per cent over the entire $1.036 billion estimated cost.

Gne. Roper said, "The results of this particular bidding experience have no relationship to the ultimate cost."

The general repeated, what the corps has announced before, that the canal would cost $1.036 billion; that principal cargoes would be iron ore, coal and coke, limestone, oil, chemicals and cement. He said the annual benefits would be $46,100,000 to navigation; $17 million to recreation; and $3 million to flood control, a total of $66,100,000.

If this is accurate, and the estimated cost is accruate, the benefit-cost ratio would be 1.2 to 1.

Roper said present plans call for a minimum depth of 12 feet. Originally the district engineer at Pittsburgh and the division engineer at Cincinnati, had called for a depth of 18 feet. Opponents say this decrease in proposed depth is what enables the army engineers to maintain their original cost figure.

WHY BOTHER WITH ONE-ROOM AIR CONDITIONERS WHEN-

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the mother of two small children. We recently moved to a new house which I love, but staying home seven days and seven nights a week, 24 hours a day is driving me buggy.

On weekends when my husband is home and my children are napping I've asked him for permission to go next door for a cup of coffee with my neighbors. He says it's not necessary — that a woman should not be gadding about, that her place is in the home.

My husband leaves at 8 a.m. and returns at 6 p.m. He bowls two nights a week. I feel it's only fair that I get out once in awhile. If I'm wrong, please tell me. If he's wrong, please tell him.—TIED DOWN.

Dear Tied: He didn't write, so I'm not going to tell him anything. But I'm going to tell you to find a sitter and go with him on one of the bowling nights, even if just to sit and observe. Or join a sewing circle, or a church group or a book review club — something that will provide intellectual stimulation and a change of scenery. And don't say you can't afford a sitter. It's cheaper than a psychiatrist.

Advice To Teen-Ager

Dear Ann: Let me begin by saying I'm a 14-year-old girl and I don't know anything about the subject I'm writing about. I mean veneral disease. I only know what I have read in magazines, and that's not much.

Can a person get V.D. from kissing someone who has a sore on his lip? Can a person get V.D. from the member of the same sex or does it have to be from a member of the opposite sex? For example, could I get V.D. from kissing my aunt?

How can a person tell if he has V.D. without going to a doctor? Where would a teen-ager go for treatment if he didn't want his parents to know?

Please give me some information. I feel very ignorant and I can't talk to any adult about this. The kids in my crowd don't know any more than I do and they'd like some information, too. Thanks for your help. — CURIOUS AND NEEDING ANSWERS.

Dear Curious: First, it is possible to get V.D. from a person (male or female) who has a sore on the lip, but most people do not get it that way. The sore that spreads V.D. is an active chancre, which means the person with the sore has V.D. It is never a good idea to kiss anyone who has an eruption of any kind. Even if it isn't V.D. you don't need it, whatever it is.

It is risky business to try to diagnose your own illness so I'll not describe V.D.symptoms. If there's any question in your mind, go to your family doctor. He will in all probability treat you and not tell your parents.

Or go to the city or county health department where they will be happy to treat you free of charge and not snitch if you ask them not to. (This is the way it is in Chicago and in most other cities.).

And while we are on the subject, I'd like to urge all teen-agers to cooperate fully with the health officials when they ask you to name your friends. This is not ratfinking. It's your duty to tell the health officer where you have been and with whom. The only way to eradicate V.D. is to track down the sources of infection and everyone who can, should help.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

General Hits At Charges Of Canal's Foes

WASHINGTON (Special)—The proposed Ohio River-Lake Erie Canal would not lower the water level of Lake Erie, contribute to the pollution of that lake, violate the boundary water treaty with Canada, cost appreciably more than previously announced estimates, or provide a windfall of profits to its promoters.

This was the testimony of Brig. Gen. Willard Roper, division engineer, Cincinnati, before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee recently, and made public Monday.

Under questioning by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown, subcommittee chairman and chief promoter of the canal, Gen. Roper answered to Kirwan's satisfaction charges which have been made by the canal's opponents.

Yanks Cashing In On Tillotson Who Hurls 3rd Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thad Tillotson looks like a better reward than money to the New York Yankees in payment for helping the Los Angeles Dodgers win the National League pennant last season.

The Yankees, who got the unheralded minor league pitcher and a bundle of cash from the Dodgers for Dick Schofield last September, cashed in another premium on the big right-hander Monday night.

Tillotson, who barely made the roster in spring training, pitched the Yankees to a 4–2 victory over the Washington Senators, his third triumph without a loss in his first major league season.

At the same time, the Detroit Tigers were busy cashing in on pitching coach Johnny Sain, a newcomer to the Tigers this season.

Dennis McLain, Tiger right-hander, threw credit toward Kansas City for 11 innings as he beat Kansas City 3-2.

In the other American League games, Cesar Tovar scored on a wild pitch with two out in the last of the ninth inning for Minnesota's 5-4 victory over Cleveland and reliever Bill Kelso's five shutout innings helped California past Baltimore 3-2.

Chicago and Boston were not scheduled.

Mickey Mantle made Tillotson's victory possible with his Sain after throwing sliders by 12th homer in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie. A second run scored in the inning on a sacrifice fly.

Tom Tresh homered earlier with a man on for the deadlock after Mike Epstein made his debut for the Senators with a fluke inside-the-park homer with one on on a pop fly that bounded past Tresh.

McLain allowed only seven hits in his effort and one of the runs off him was unearned when Phil Roof tripled in the ninth inning and scored when Al Kaline bobbled the ball.

Jim Northrup singled and scored on Norm Cash's double for the winning run.

"My good control is back and my slider now is a weapon I have confidence in. I know I can battle the hitters with it," McLain said after evening his record at 6-6.

"Give Johnny Sain the credit. wanted to teach it (the slider) to I didn't like the idea when he me in the spring. Tonight it made all the difference. I threw it 15-20 times."

Steve Bailey's control was not as good for Cleveland. He made the wild pitch that got Tovar home after the reliever walked Tovar, who reached third on Rod Carew's safety.

Bob Allison homered earlier for the Twins and Tony Oliva pulled them into a 4-4 tie in the sixth inning after Fred Whitfield and Max Alvis hit solo shots for the Indians.

Kelso, 3-1, took over in the fifth inning for Nick Willhite, who left with a pulled muscle after giving up both Baltimore runs, one on a homer by Paul Blair.

The Angels led 3-2 at the time with three runs in the second inning as an infield out, a single by Jose Cardenal and a force out drove them home. Kelso allowed only one hit and a walk the rest of the way.

Gotay, Filling In For Morgan, Sparks Astros To 5-2 Nod

Cubs Rout Phils; Dodgers Win 4-2

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Joe Morgan and Julio Gotay are on two-week reserve tours, but Gotay, unlike Morgan, would like to see his stint stretch through September at least.

Morgan, the Houston Astros' second baseman, is on two-week Army Reserve training, and Gotay has been called up from Oklahoma City to fill in for him.

"They say I'm just up for two weeks," Gotay said Monday night, "but I don't want to go back down again."

If his performance in Houston's 5-2 victory over St. Louis is any indication of what his fill-in tour is going to be like, he might not. Gotay collected a double and two singles, drove in two runs and scored once.

In other National League games Monday night, Los Angeles beat Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs trounced Philadelphia 13-3.

Gotay, a 27-year-old Puerto Rican who has been in and out of the major leagues in the past several years, has added incentive to make this stay in the big time an extended one.

"I got to go hard with the two coming," he said.

The "two coming" are the twins his wife has been told she can expect in August. The Gotays already have two children.

Gotay, hitless in his last 20 at bats at Oklahoma City, tied the game a 1-1 in the fifth inning by doubling home a run and then scored on a sacrifice fly in the ame inning. His third hit drove in one of two runs in the sixth inning when the Astros clinched the victory which snapped a three-game losing streak.

Tony Cloninger started for Atlanta for the first time since April 26 when he was sidelined with an eye ailment.

The right-hander was touched for all four Los Angeles runs, the big blow being a two-run homer by Len Gabrielson in the second.

The Braves, losing their fifth straight, drove Los Angeles starter Claude Osteen to cover in the ninth when the first two men up—Rico Carty and Clete Boyer—homered. Phil Regan came in to save the victory.

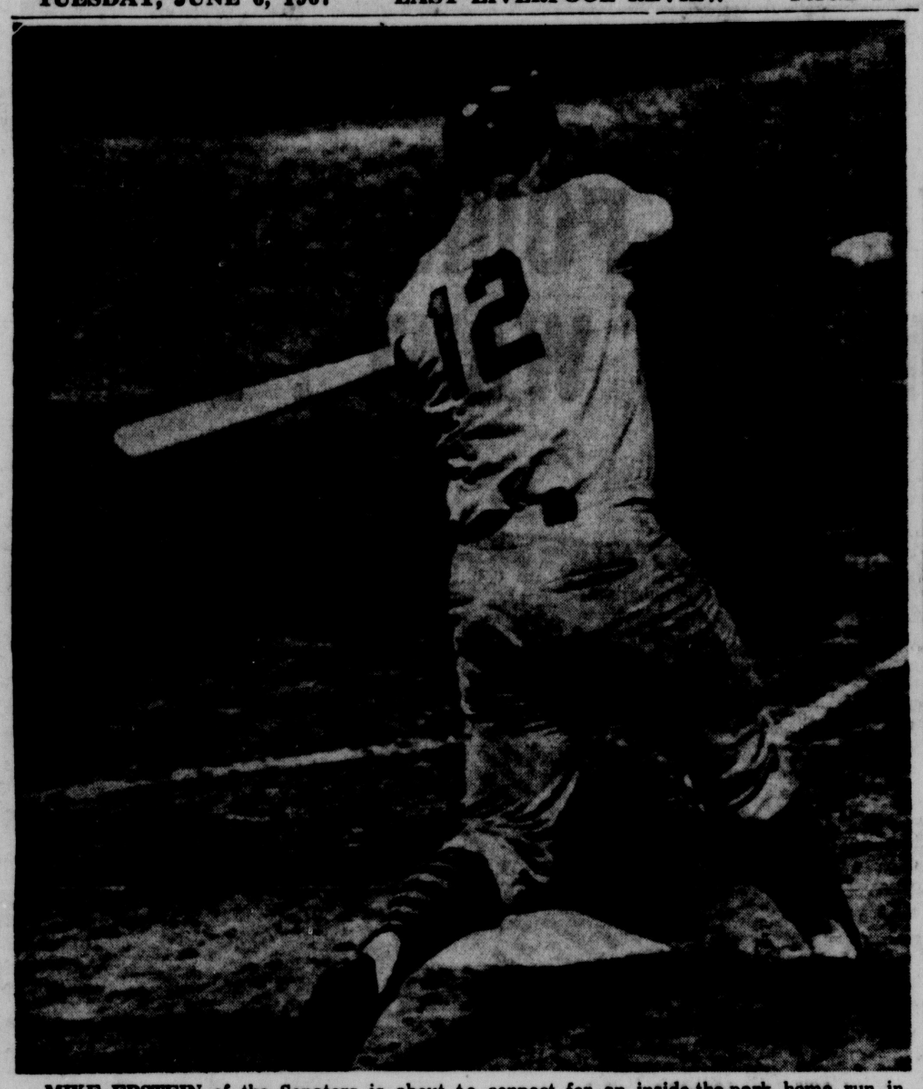
Manager Leo Durocher wasn't around to enjoy his Cubs' romp. Umpire Augie Donatelli thumbed Durocher in the third inning for arguing a strike call.

"I invited him for tea and he said he could make it," Durocher said when asked what he had said to Donatelli.

The Cubs started their own Tee Party when Billy Williams hit a solo homer with two out in the fifth to break a 1-1 tie and spark a four-run surge.

Chicago came right back with four in the sixth. This outburst was capped by Ted Savage's pinch hit three-run homer.

Williams also homered in the eighth, and teammates Ron Santo and Ernie Banks connected in the ninth. Bill White hit his first homer of the season for the Phillies.



MIKE EPSTEIN of the Senators is about to connect for an inside-the-park home run in the fourth inning of Monday's game with the Yankees at New York. The Yanks won, 4-2. (UPI Telephoto)

Fresh Start With Senators

Epstein 'Slugs' 200-Foot Home Run In Second Try

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Epstein finally got what he wanted—a chance to make his second major league debut—and he wound up getting something he didn't expect but which he'll take anyway—a 200-foot home run.

Epstein, the controversial rookie who struck baseball for 19 days after refusing to accept a demotion to the minors, started his first game for his new team, Washington, Monday night and while the Senators were losing to New York 4-2, he:

—Singled in his first time at bat.

—Was thrown out stealing.

—Dropped an easy pop fly for his first major league error.

—Hit a 200-foot shot for his first major league homer.

"It wasn't my first game, but it's a debut in that I'm getting a fresh new start," said the 24-year-old first baseman who was suspended after refusing the order of the Baltimore Orioles to go to their minor league team at Rochester.

Epstein, who was the minors' player of the year in 1966, wanted a chance to prove he belonged in the majors, and he got it when the Orioles traded him with pitcher Frank Bertaina to the Senators for pitcher Pete Richert a week ago.

His start with the Senators not only was fresh but it also was a little bizarre—particularly the fourth-inning homer that carried only about 200 feet in the air before barely eluding the out-stretched glove of left fielder Tom Tresh and then bouncing even more elusively along the left field fence.

"I thought it was going to be an out," the left-handed slugger said. "When I saw it drop in, I just turned it on. Eddie Yost, the third base coach, kept waving me around. I couldn't believe it.

"It was a big thrill even considering the kind of homer it was. I'll take them when I get them. I won't be stingy. I'll take another five or six of those.

"I'm not in good shape. I was out of breath when I crossed the plate. I was excited. The other players were excited about it too. I guess that was our high spot of the night."

Snead Seeks To Gain Spot In U.S. Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The signs were all there. The casualties, including Ed Furgol, were as prominent as the qualifiers in Monday's sectional qualifications for the U.S. Open Golf championship.

But Sam Snead doesn't believe in signs.

"I don't think there's anything to this hex stuff, this business of signs," the old West Virginia mountaineer snorted today as he sought to make his way into his 26th U.S. Open Tournament. He failed to make it last year.

Snead, who has won all of golf's major tournaments—except the Open—is among the field of 68 who will shoot for 24 spots in the sectional qualifications at Detroit today.

Other sectional qualifications in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Dallas will complete the field of 150 for the finals at Baltusrol in Springfield, N.J., June 15-18.

Sixty-seven made it through sectional qualifications at seven sites Monday and 27 others—including most of the big name touring pros—are exempt from all qualifying rounds.

Furgol, who won his Open title in 1954, the last time the tournament was played at Baltusrol, was bitterly disappointed after his bad rounds on the two courses on Long Island.

He was five over par for 18 holes each on the par 72 Wheatley Hills layout and the par 71 Meadow Brook course for a whopping 153.

"I had seven three-putt greens, which puts me in the ladies class," said Furgol, who had played in 21 consecutive Opens.

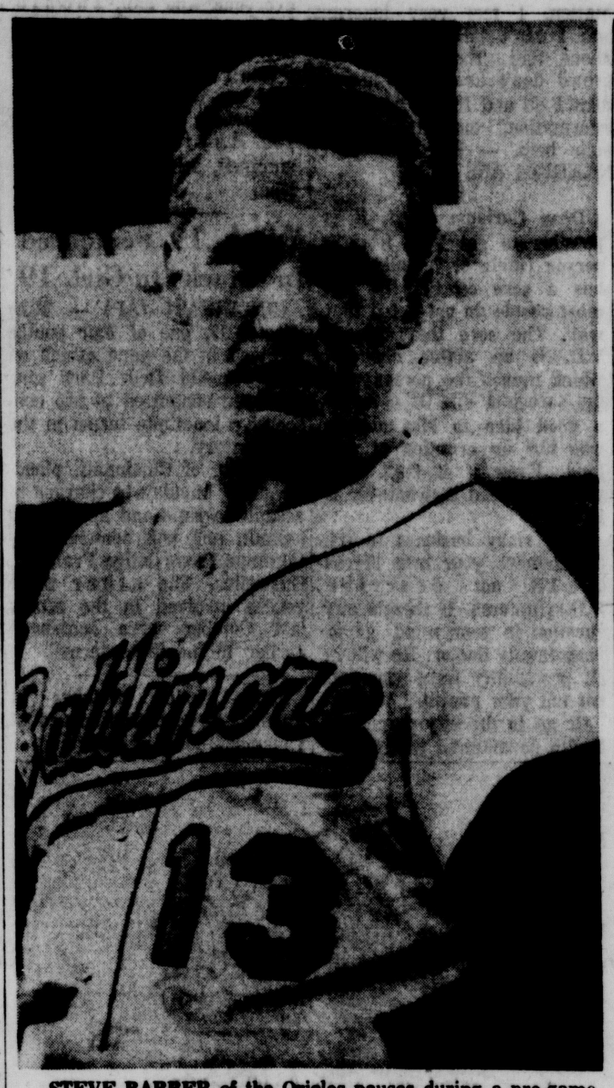
Five former PGA champions, Ron Cerrudo and two other members of the U.S. Walker Cup team also fell by the wayside in the qualifications that also were held in Cincinnati, Denver, Chicago, Kansas City, Memphis, Tenn., and Vancouver, Wash.

Former PGA champs eliminated were Lionel (1957) and Jay (1961) Hebert, Jack Burke (1956), Doug Ford (1955) and Dow Finsterwald (1958), Burke and Ford also won Masters championships.

Jim Grant, another Walker Cupper, also failed at New York, while Ed Tutwiler missed in Cincinnati.

Among the prominent pros who missed—most of them competed at Memphis where the PGA wound up one of its regular tour tournaments Sunday—were Dan Sikes, Tommy Aaron, Bruce Crampton, J.C. Goosie and Dave Ragan.

And it was in Memphis, on the par 35-35—70 Colonial Country Club course, that South African Bob Verwey put together the day's best round, a spectacular 133—seven under par and led a field of 23 qualifiers.



STEVE BARBER of the Orioles pauses during a pre-game workout after he arrived in Anaheim, Calif., for the Orioles game with the Angels. Barber left the team enroute to California saying it was a spur of the moment decision not to accompany the team. He visited his wife and in-laws in Wisconsin. (UPI Telephoto)

Old Goalies Eyed

NHL's Expansion Draft Under Way

MONTREAL (AP)—Some old goalies fade away, but a couple of the oldest—and finest—in the National Hockey League were on their way to fresh starts in today's monumental expansion draft...if they choose to make the trip.

Glenn Hall, Chicago's nine-time All-Star, figured to be one of the top prizes as the NHL stocked six new clubs with two goaltenders apiece, kicking off the two-day draft session in which 120 pros eventually will change addresses.

Coupled with the 35-year-old Hall in pre-draft speculation were Toronto's veteran tandem of Johnny Bower, 42, and Terry Sawchuck, 37, one of whom most likely will be chosen on the first round.

The six epansion franchises—California, Los Angeles, Minnesota, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia—were to select 20 players apiece from lists submitted by their NHL predecessors. Each of the established teams were to lose 20, including two goalkeepers, from their systems, in professional sport's biggest talent turnover ever.

Chicago's regular season champions were expected to top their protective list of 12 players with goalie Denis DeJordy, a cool, 28-year-old performer who shared the job with Hall in 1966-67.

Hall, a first team All-Star six times, retired before the start of the 1966-67 campaign, but changed his mind two months later and helped the Hawks nail their first NHL title. He has not indicated whether he intends to return for his 14th season and could be difficult to sign for the team which drafts him.

On the other hand, both Sawchuk, who backstopped the Leafs to their Stanley Cup triumph with brilliant efforts against Chicago and Montreal, and Bower, a Toronto fixture for the past nine years, have said they'll be happy to play—anywhere—next season.

The feeling Monday, as the newly aligned 12-team-circuit began its summer meetings, was that Punch Imlach, Toronto's manager-coach, would protect Sawchuk. Terry, who bounced back from serious back surgery last year, is the league's all-time shutout king with an even 100 in regular season play.

During the separate goalie draft, each of the old clubs—New York, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto — protected one net-minder, lost one, added another to its safe list and then lost a second man. The order of selection was determined by lot, then reversed after the first round.

Following the goalie phase, the new teams drafted forwards and defensemen, with the holdovers adding players to their protected rosters after the first and second rounds, then losing three more men. Thereafter the fill-and-claim system was carried to the conclusion of the draft.

Four of the expansion teams—Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and St. Louis—announced the acquisition of minor league affiliates Monday.

The Los Angeles Kings bought the Springfield Indians of the American League from long-time owner Eddie Shore, getting 29 players in the bargain. Pittsburgh set up a working agreement with Baltimore of the AHL.

Minnesota and St. Louis will operate Central League clubs in Memphis and Kansas City, respectively.

Cool Reception Destroyed After Breaking Foreleg

NEW YORK (AP)—Cool Reception, who finished second in the Belmont Stakes despite a broken right foreleg, was destroyed Monday night.

The courageous Canadian 3-year-old colt started to weave about a sixteenth of a mile from home in the gruelling 1½-mile final leg of racing's Triple Crown Saturday but gamely hung on to finish 2½ lengths behind winner Damascus.

"He finished the last sixteenth of a mile on pure guts," said jockey Johnny Sellers, who dismounted shortly after the finish and walked Cool Reception back to the unsaddling ring.

A two-hour operation was performed Monday in an effort to save the colt, but a few hours later, Dr. William Reed said:

"There was nothing else we could do. We had to put him to sleep."

Grand Slam, Pair Of HR's Featured In Little League

A grand slam home run by Mike Dauka paced Vernon Dell to a 12-2 victory over Travelers Hotel while a pair of home runs by Frank led Parsons Coal in a 23-1 rout of the Chester Legion Monday in Little League play.

One other game showed Golden Star scoring a 7-3 win over Veteran Plate Glass.

Dauka's grand slam shot was his third hit of the night as J. Anderson was the winning pitcher for Vernon Dell and fanned nine batters. Doughty was the losing hurler. Shaw homered for Travelers Hotel.

Frank hit two home runs and went four for five at the plate while Samples homered and had a perfect four-for-four night at bat for Parsons.

A four-run first inning led to Golden Star's victory over Veteran Plate. Hoppel, Lemasters and Francis had two hits each for the Dairymen. Lemasters was the winning pitcher and only allowed three hits. O'Hanlon was the losing hurler.

Yanks Cashing In On Tillotson Who Hurls 3rd Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Thad Tillotson looks like a better reward than money to the New York Yankees in payment for helping the Los Angeles Dodgers win the National League pennant last season.

The Yankees, who got the unheralded minor league pitcher and a bundle of cash from the Dodgers for Dick Schofield last September, cashed in another premium on the big right-hander Monday night.

Tillotson, who barely made the roster in spring training, pitched the Yankees to a 4–2 victory over the Washington Senators, his third triumph without a loss in his first major league season.

At the same time, the Detroit Tigers were busy cashing in on pitching coach Johnny Sain, a newcomer to the Tigers this season.

Dennis McLain, Tiger right-hander, threw credit toward Kansas City for 11 innings as he beat Kansas City 3-2.

In the other American League games, Cesar Tovar scored on a wild pitch with two out in the last of the ninth inning for Minnesota's 5-4 victory over Cleveland and reliever Bill Kelso's five shutout innings helped California past Baltimore 3-2.

Chicago and Boston were not scheduled.

Mickey Mantle made Tillotson's victory possible with his Sain after throwing sliders by 12th homer in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie. A second run scored in the inning on a sacrifice fly.

Tom Tresh homered earlier with a man on for the deadlock after Mike Epstein made his debut for the Senators with a fluke inside-the-park homer with one on on a pop fly that bounded past Tresh.

McLain allowed only seven hits in his effort and one of the runs off him was unearned when Phil Roof tripled in the ninth inning and scored when Al Kaline bobbled the ball.

Jim Northrup singled and scored on Norm Cash's double for the winning run.

"My good control is back and my slider now is a weapon I have confidence in. I know I can battle the hitters with it," McLain said after evening his record at 6-6.

"Give Johnny Sain the credit. wanted to teach it (the slider) to me in the spring. Tonight it made all the difference. I threw it 15-20 times."

Steve Bailey's control was not as good for Cleveland. He made the wild pitch that got Tovar home after the reliever walked Tovar, who reached third on Rod Carew's safety.

Bob Allison homered earlier for the Twins and Tony Oliva pulled them into a 4-4 tie in the sixth inning after Fred Whitfield and Max Alvis hit solo shots for the Indians.

Kelso, 3-1, took over in the fifth inning for Nick Willhite, who left with a pulled muscle after giving up both Baltimore runs, one on a homer by Paul Blair.

The Angels led 3-2 at the time with three runs in the second inning as an infield out, a single by Jose Cardenal and a force out drove them home. Kelso allowed only one hit and a walk the rest of the way.

Fresh Start With Senators

Epstein 'Slugs' 200-Foot Home Run In Second Try

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Epstein finally got what he wanted—a chance to make his second major league debut—and he wound up getting something he didn't expect but which he'll take anyway—a 200-foot home run.

Epstein, the controversial rookie who struck baseball for 19 days after refusing to accept a demotion to the minors, started his first game for his new team, Washington, Monday night and while the Senators were losing to New York 4-2, he:

—Singled in his first time at bat.

—Was thrown out stealing.

—Dropped an easy pop fly for his first major league error.

—Hit a 200-foot shot for his first major league homer.

"It wasn't my first game, but it's a debut in that I'm getting a fresh new start," said the 24-year-old first baseman who was suspended after refusing the order of the Baltimore Orioles to go to their minor league team at Rochester.

Epstein, who was the minors' player of the year in 1966, wanted a chance to prove he belonged in the majors, and he got it when the Orioles traded him with pitcher Frank Bertaina to the Senators for pitcher Pete Richert a week ago.

His start with the Senators not only was fresh but it also was a little bizarre—particularly the fourth-inning homer that carried only about 200 feet in the air before barely eluding the out-stretched glove of left fielder Tom Tresh and then bouncing even more elusively along the left field fence.

"I thought it was going to be an out," the left-handed slugger said. "When I saw it drop in, I just turned it on. Eddie Yost, the third base coach, kept waving me around. I couldn't believe it.

"It was a big thrill even considering the kind of homer it was. I'll take them when I get them. I won't be stingy. I'll take another five or six of those.

"I'm not in good shape. I was out of breath when I crossed the plate. I was excited. The other players were excited about it too. I guess that was our high spot of the night."

Cubs Rout Phils; Dodgers Win 4-2

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Joe Morgan and Julio Gotay are on two-week reserve tours, but Gotay, unlike Morgan, would like to see his stint stretch through September at least.

Morgan, the Houston Astros' second baseman, is on two-week Army Reserve training, and Gotay has been called up from Oklahoma City to fill in for him.

"They say I'm just up for two weeks," Gotay said Monday night, "but I don't want to go back down again."

If his performance in Houston's 5-2 victory over St. Louis is any indication of what his fill-in tour is going to be like, he might not. Gotay collected a double and two singles, drove in two runs and scored once.

In other National League games Monday night, Los Angeles beat Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs trounced Philadelphia 13-3.

Gotay, a 27-year-old Puerto Rican who has been in and out of the major leagues in the past several years, has added incentive to make this stay in the big time an extended one.

"I got to go hard with the two coming," he said.

The "two coming" are the twins his wife has been told she can expect in August. The Gotays already have two children.

Gotay, hitless in his last 20 at bats at Oklahoma City, tied the game a 1-1 in the fifth inning by doubling home a run and then scored on a sacrifice fly in the ame inning. His third hit drove in one of two runs in the sixth inning when the Astros clinched the victory which snapped a three-game losing streak.

Tony Cloninger started for Atlanta for the first time since April 26 when he was sidelined with an eye ailment.

The right-hander was touched for all four Los Angeles runs, the big blow being a two-run homer by Len Gabrielson in the second.

The Braves, losing their fifth straight, drove Los Angeles starter Claude Osteen to cover in the ninth when the first two men up—Rico Carty and Clete Boyer—homered. Phil Regan came in to save the victory.

Manager Leo Durocher wasn't around to enjoy his Cubs' romp. Umpire Augie Donatelli thumbed Durocher in the third inning for arguing a strike call.

"I invited him for tea and he said he could make it," Durocher said when asked what he had said to Donatelli.

The Cubs started their own Tee Party when Billy Williams hit a solo homer with two out in the fifth to break a 1-1 tie and spark a four-run surge.

Chicago came right back with four in the sixth. This outburst was capped by Ted Savage's pinch hit three-run homer.

Williams also homered in the eighth, and teammates Ron Santo and Ernie Banks connected in the ninth. Bill White hit his first homer of the season for the Phillies.

Snead Seeks To Gain Spot In U.S. Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The signs were all there. The casualties, including Ed Furgol, were as prominent as the qualifiers in Monday's sectional qualifications for the U.S. Open Golf championship.

But Sam Snead doesn't believe in signs.

"I don't think there's anything to this hex stuff, this business of signs," the old West Virginia mountaineer snorted today as he sought to make his way into his 26th U.S. Open Tournament. He failed to make it last year.

Snead, who has won all of golf's major tournaments—except the Open—is among the field of 68 who will shoot for 24 spots in the sectional qualifications at Detroit today.

Other sectional qualifications in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Dallas will complete the field of 150 for the finals at Baltusrol in Springfield, N.J., June 15-18.

Sixty-seven made it through sectional qualifications at seven sites Monday and 27 others—including most of the big name touring pros—are exempt from all qualifying rounds.

Furgol, who won his Open title in 1954, the last time the tournament was played at Baltusrol, was bitterly disappointed after his bad rounds on the two courses on Long Island.

He was five over par for 18 holes each on the par 72 Wheatley Hills layout and the par 71 Meadow Brook course for a whopping 153.

"I had seven three-putt greens, which puts me in the ladies class," said Furgol, who had played in 21 consecutive Opens.

Five former PGA champions, Ron Cerrudo and two other members of the U.S. Walker Cup team also fell by the wayside in the qualifications that also were held in Cincinnati, Denver, Chicago, Kansas City, Memphis, Tenn., and Vancouver, Wash.

Former PGA champs eliminated were Lionel (1957) and Jay (1961) Hebert, Jack Burke (1956), Doug Ford (1955) and Dow Finsterwald (1958), Burke and Ford also won Masters championships.

Jim Grant, another Walker Cupper, also failed at New York, while Ed Tutwiler missed in Cincinnati.

Among the prominent pros who missed—most of them competed at Memphis where the PGA wound up one of its regular tour tournaments Sunday—were Dan Sikes, Tommy Aaron, Bruce Crampton, J.C. Goosie and Dave Ragan.

And it was in Memphis, on the par 35-35—70 Colonial Country Club course, that South African Bob Verwey put together the day's best round, a spectacular 133—seven under par and led a field of 23 qualifiers.

Old Goalies Eyed

NHL's Expansion Draft Under Way

MONTREAL (AP)—Some old goalies fade away, but a couple of the oldest—and finest—in the National Hockey League were on their way to fresh starts in today's monumental expansion draft...if they choose to make the trip.

Glenn Hall, Chicago's nine-time All-Star, figured to be one of the top prizes as the NHL stocked six new clubs with two goaltenders apiece, kicking off the two-day draft session in which 120 pros eventually will change addresses.

Coupled with the 35-year-old Hall in pre-draft speculation were Toronto's veteran tandem of Johnny Bower, 42, and Terry Sawchuck, 37, one of whom most likely will be chosen on the first round.

The six epansion franchises—California, Los Angeles, Minnesota, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia—were to select 20 players apiece from lists submitted by their NHL predecessors. Each of the established teams were to lose 20, including two goalkeepers, from their systems, in professional sport's biggest talent turnover ever.

Chicago's regular season champions were expected to top their protective list of 12 players with goalie Denis DeJordy, a cool, 28-year-old performer who shared the job with Hall in 1966-67.

Hall, a first team All-Star six times, retired before the start of the 1966-67 campaign, but changed his mind two months later and helped the Hawks nail their first NHL title. He has not indicated whether he intends to return for his 14th season and could be difficult to sign for the team which drafts him.

On the other hand, both Sawchuk, who backstopped the Leafs to their Stanley Cup triumph with brilliant efforts against Chicago and Montreal, and Bower, a Toronto fixture for the past nine years, have said they'll be happy to play—anywhere—next season.

The feeling Monday, as the newly aligned 12-team-circuit began its summer meetings, was that Punch Imlach, Toronto's manager-coach, would protect Sawchuk. Terry, who bounced back from serious back surgery last year, is the league's all-time shutout king with an even 100 in regular season play.

During the separate goalie draft, each of the old clubs—New York, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto — protected one net-minder, lost one, added another to its safe list and then lost a second man. The order of selection was determined by lot, then reversed after the first round.

Following the goalie phase, the new teams drafted forwards and defensemen, with the holdovers adding players to their protected rosters after the first and second rounds, then losing three more men. Thereafter the fill-and-claim system was carried to the conclusion of the draft.

Four of the expansion teams—Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and St. Louis—announced the acquisition of minor league affiliates Monday.

The Los Angeles Kings bought the Springfield Indians of the American League from long-time owner Eddie Shore, getting 29 players in the bargain. Pittsburgh set up a working agreement with Baltimore of the AHL.

Minnesota and St. Louis will operate Central League clubs in Memphis and Kansas City, respectively.

Majors Hope Free Draft Will Turn Up Standouts

NEW YORK (AP) — If the 1967 baseball free agent draft today and Wednesday turns up the likes of Ken Holtzman, Rick Monday, Joe Coleman, Tom Seaver, Gary Nolan, Rich Nye and Bill Dillman, the major leaguers will be satisfied.

Among the 800 or more schoolboys and collegians who will be selected by the 20 big league teams and their farm club affiliates, the pros hope to find outstanding prospects to match the caliber of previous crops.

The New York Yankees, with first pick in the two-day session are eyeing shortstop Terry Hughes of Spartanburg, S.C.

Monday, the regular center fielder for the Kansas City A's until he was hit on the face by a pitched ball Saturday, was the No. 1 pick in the very first free agent draft in June, 1965. After two years in the minors, and a brief trial last year with the A's, Monday came up to stay this season.

Les Rohr was the No. 2 man in 1965 and he was drafted by the New York Mets. So far, he has been a disappointment and currently is in military service.

Joe Coleman, a 3-3 pitcher for Washington through Sunday's games, was No. 3 in that first selection. The son of the former big league pitcher came up last year and won his only start.

Ken Holtzman, the 61st pick in the 1965 draft, was grabbed by the Chicago Cubs organization and came along so fast that he beat Sandy Koufax in a memorable duel last season and was 5-0 this year when called into service. Both Don Shaw of the New York Mets and Bill Dillman of Baltimore have been effective relief pitchers. Shaw as No. 752 and Dillman No. 118 in the original draft.

Scouts who hoped for instant success in the draft pointed to the performances of men such as Gary Nolan (4-1) of Cincinnati and Rich Nye of the Cubs (3-4). Nye was No. 786 in the 1965 draft but was unsigned. He was grabbed by the Cubs in the special phase last June.

The draft is divided into two phases—regular and special. The regular phase covers amateur players not previously drafted.

In compliance with the new college rule, no player in a four-year college can be selected in this phase until he is a senior or has reached the age of 21. In the secondary phase, players selected previously but not signed, are eligible.

In the regular phase the clubs draft in inverse order of their 1966 finish with the American first and then the National League alternating. The Yanks are followed by the Cubs and so on down to the 20th and final pick by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Each major league can take one, each Triple A farm can draft two, Each Double A farm four and there is no limit on Class A farms.

The draft also will include American Legion players but they cannot be signed until after the Legion season.

Lou Hudson Signs Pact To Play At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Hudson, saying he wanted to play in the prestigous National Basketball Association, has signed a 1967-68 contract with the St. Louis Hawks in another round of the battle for players between the established NBA and the fledgling American Basketball Association.

"I thought about coming back after talking with friends at my home in Greensboro, N.C." Hudson said. "I called Mr. Kerner Sunday and talked about it and we agreed to terms Monday."

Earlier Hudson, who scored 1,471 points as a rookie with the Hawks, had signed a contract with the Minnesota Muskies of the American Basketball Association. The Hawks filed a $3 million damage suit against Hudson, the Minnesota team and the ABA as a result of that contract.

The St. Louis club withdrew the suit Monday before announcing that Hudson had signed his new contract.

Ben Kerner, owner of the Hawks and an elder statesman in the NBA, said, "I have nver had a player jump to another league and I've been through three battles with new leagues."

He said he was pleased that Hudson decided to stay with the Hawks.

General Manager A. E. Holman of the Minnesota team said a call from The Associated Press there was the first he had heard of Hudson's action.

"We have a contract with him," Holman said.

Hudson said when his signing with the ABA club was announced that the offer was too good to turn down. Holman said he had received word earlier Monday that the law suit had been dismissed.

Coach Richie Guerin said Hudson's action was taken on his own initiative and he was glad to have the rookie back.

Hudson admitted that money was the reason he signed the Minnesota contract.

Pair Injured As Motorbike And Truck Hit

Two Hancock County men escaped with superficial injuries Monday afternoon when their motorbike was involved in a collision with a truck at E. 3rd St. and Broadway, police reported.

The 1967 motorbike operated by C. H. Chenoweth, 25, of 9 Washington St., Newell, was involved in a crash with a truck driven by Charles A. Greenwood, 53, of Lang St. and owned by YELP Service, Inc., of the River Rd.

Chenoweth complained his ribs were injured and his passenger, George Knox of Fairview Rd., Chester, suffered scratches on the hands, police said. Chenoweth later was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of both elbows.

Chenoweth said he was proceeding east on E. 3rd St. when the rig made a turn in front of him. Greenwood told police he was making a left turn and the motorbike hit the rear of the truck.

Two cars were damaged in a mishap on Pennsylvania Ave. Monday at 6:21 p. m.

It involved an auto driven by Gary Richard Green, 18, of 1625 Pennsylvania Ave. and a 1965 four - door sedan operated by Herbert Hughes, 45, of 1430 Globe St.

Green reported he halted because a car ahead of him stopped. Then, he said, his auto was hit from the rear. Hughes confirmed the report and added he did not see the autos ahead of him stop, officers said.

Meanwhile, Asst. Fire Chief James Pelley reported to police Monday at 8:30 p.m. a fire hydrant at E. 2nd and Union Sts. had been knocked over, apparently by a hit-skip vehicle. Pelley filed the report with Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon.

Mutuel Clerks Stage Walk Out At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Negotiations were scheduled to resume this morning between 200 striking mutuel clerks and officials of Shenandoah Downs race track.

The clerks struck the track Monday evening when it opened its 48-night summer meeting.

Track officials said there were no incidents and no picketing but attendance was somewhat lower than expected.

A track spokesman said the opening night crowd was 3,808 about 1,000 less than anticipated.

Earlier Monday Jefferson County Circuit Court Judge Gray Silver Jr. issued an injunction barring picketing at the track by the clerks, members of Local 533 of the West Virginia Muteul Clerks Union.

The clerks said they struck because the track has failed to recognize their union.

Monday night's mutuel clerk duties were handled by temporary employes hired last week after the clerks announced their intention to strike.

Two Ohio Boys Okay After Near Fatal Accident

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP) — Two 14-year-old Cleveland-area boys awoke today in comfortable hospital beds, a far cry from the load of lumber which came close to crushing them to death the previous morning.

John Lowery of Cleveland and Robert Schroeder of Lakewood are recuperating in Aliquippa Hospital from minor leg injuries after being plucked from a railroad car by two sharp — eared policemen patrolling a siding in the pre-dawn darkness Monday.

"I heard a faint cry for help," said patrolman Morry Mike. "We listened and I heard it again. I don't know how with all that noise from the Jones and Laughlin steel mill."

"We put our spotlight on the cars and saw their hand sticking out a gondola.

"We hurried over and found the kids pinned under the lumber. And you know what the one boy said to me? "Would you hold my hand? I'm scared.'"

"And I says, 'You better believe I will.'"

An hour later police had pulled the youths free.

The youths left home Sunday and hopped the freight in Youngstown. They hid in a narrow opening in front of the car.

"The railroad inspector told me that if that train had started up again, the boys would have been crushed to death by the jerking of the train," Mike said. "All the lumber in the car would have piled on top of them.

"I think those boys have learned a lesson."

The truck went right of the car and smashed into a large maple tree before coming to rest against the car. The rig was badly damaged and had to be towed.

Owner of the rig is the Third St. Leasing Co. of Canton. Ogden was driving for the Roberts Motor Lines in Akron and was bound for Wellsville.

There were no injuries.

Majors Hope Free Draft Will Turn Up Standouts

NEW YORK (AP) — If the 1967 baseball free agent draft today and Wednesday turns up the likes of Ken Holtzman, Rick Monday, Joe Coleman, Tom Seaver, Gary Nolan, Rich Nye and Bill Dillman, the major leaguers will be satisfied.

Among the 800 or more schoolboys and collegians who will be selected by the 20 big league teams and their farm club affiliates, the pros hope to find outstanding prospects to match the caliber of previous crops.

The New York Yankees, with first pick in the two-day session are eyeing shortstop Terry Hughes of Spartanburg, S.C.

Monday, the regular center fielder for the Kansas City A's until he was hit on the face by a pitched ball Saturday, was the No. 1 pick in the very first free agent draft in June, 1965. After two years in the minors, and a brief trial last year with the A's, Monday came up to stay this season.

Les Rohr was the No. 2 man in 1965 and he was drafted by the New York Mets. So far, he has been a disappointment and currently is in military service.

Joe Coleman, a 3-3 pitcher for Washington through Sunday's games, was No. 3 in that first selection. The son of the former big league pitcher came up last year and won his only start.

Ken Holtzman, the 61st pick in the 1965 draft, was grabbed by the Chicago Cubs organization and came along so fast that he beat Sandy Koufax in a memorable duel last season and was 5-0 this year when called into service. Both Don Shaw of the New York Mets and Bill Dillman of Baltimore have been effective relief pitchers. Shaw as No. 752 and Dillman No. 118 in the original draft.

Scouts who hoped for instant success in the draft pointed to the performances of men such as Gary Nolan (4-1) of Cincinnati and Rich Nye of the Cubs (3-4). Nye was No. 786 in the 1965 draft but was unsigned. He was grabbed by the Cubs in the special phase last June.

The draft is divided into two phases—regular and special. The regular phase covers amateur players not previously drafted.

In compliance with the new college rule, no player in a four-year college can be selected in this phase until he is a senior or has reached the age of 21. In the secondary phase, players selected previously but not signed, are eligible.

In the regular phase the clubs draft in inverse order of their 1966 finish with the American first and then the National League alternating. The Yanks are followed by the Cubs and so on down to the 20th and final pick by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Each major league can take one, each Triple A farm can draft two, Each Double A farm four and there is no limit on Class A farms.

The draft also will include American Legion players but they cannot be signed until after the Legion season.

Lou Hudson Signs Pact To Play At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Hudson, saying he wanted to play in the prestigous National Basketball Association, has signed a 1967-68 contract with the St. Louis Hawks in another round of the battle for players between the established NBA and the fledgling American Basketball Association.

"I thought about coming back after talking with friends at my home in Greensboro, N.C." Hudson said. "I called Mr. Kerner Sunday and talked about it and we agreed to terms Monday."

Earlier Hudson, who scored 1,471 points as a rookie with the Hawks, had signed a contract with the Minnesota Muskies of the American Basketball Association. The Hawks filed a $3 million damage suit against Hudson, the Minnesota team and the ABA as a result of that contract.

The St. Louis club withdrew the suit Monday before announcing that Hudson had signed his new contract.

Ben Kerner, owner of the Hawks and an elder statesman in the NBA, said, "I have nver had a player jump to another league and I've been through three battles with new leagues."

He said he was pleased that Hudson decided to stay with the Hawks.

General Manager A. E. Holman of the Minnesota team said a call from The Associated Press there was the first he had heard of Hudson's action.

"We have a contract with him," Holman said.

Hudson said when his signing with the ABA club was announced that the offer was too good to turn down. Holman said he had received word earlier Monday that the law suit had been dismissed.

Coach Richie Guerin said Hudson's action was taken on his own initiative and he was glad to have the rookie back.

Hudson admitted that money was the reason he signed the Minnesota contract.

Pair Injured As Motorbike And Truck Hit

Two Hancock County men escaped with superficial injuries Monday afternoon when their motorbike was involved in a collision with a truck at E. 3rd St. and Broadway, police reported.

The 1967 motorbike operated by C. H. Chenoweth, 25, of 9 Washington St., Newell, was involved in a crash with a truck driven by Charles A. Greenwood, 53, of Lang St. and owned by YELP Service, Inc., of the River Rd.

Chenoweth complained his ribs were injured and his passenger, George Knox of Fairview Rd., Chester, suffered scratches on the hands, police said. Chenoweth later was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of both elbows.

Chenoweth said he was proceeding east on E. 3rd St. when the rig made a turn in front of him. Greenwood told police he was making a left turn and the motorbike hit the rear of the truck.

Two cars were damaged in a mishap on Pennsylvania Ave. Monday at 6:21 p. m.

It involved an auto driven by Gary Richard Green, 18, of 1625 Pennsylvania Ave. and a 1965 four - door sedan operated by Herbert Hughes, 45, of 1430 Globe St.

Green reported he halted because a car ahead of him stopped. Then, he said, his auto was hit from the rear. Hughes confirmed the report and added he did not see the autos ahead of him stop, officers said.

Meanwhile, Asst. Fire Chief James Pelley reported to police Monday at 8:30 p.m. a fire hydrant at E. 2nd and Union Sts. had been knocked over, apparently by a hit-skip vehicle. Pelley filed the report with Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon.

Mutuel Clerks Stage Walk Out At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Negotiations were scheduled to resume this morning between 200 striking mutuel clerks and officials of Shenandoah Downs race track.

The clerks struck the track Monday evening when it opened its 48-night summer meeting.

Track officials said there were no incidents and no picketing but attendance was somewhat lower than expected.

A track spokesman said the opening night crowd was 3,808 about 1,000 less than anticipated.

Earlier Monday Jefferson County Circuit Court Judge Gray Silver Jr. issued an injunction barring picketing at the track by the clerks, members of Local 533 of the West Virginia Muteul Clerks Union.

The clerks said they struck because the track has failed to recognize their union.

Monday night's mutuel clerk duties were handled by temporary employes hired last week after the clerks announced their intention to strike.

ANAHEIM (AP) — Pitcher Steve Barber, who walked away from the Baltimore Orioles Sunday, rejoined his teammates here Monday night and was fined an estimated $500 by Manager Hank Bauer.

Barber said he thinks like a lefthander. "I made a left-handed move," he said.

"I realize it was a mistake not asking Bauer for permission to visit my inlaws' farm in Twin Bluffs, Wis.," Barber said.

The 28-year - old lefthander, who has had considerable trouble with his control this season, said he had no complaints about Bauer's plans to demote him to the bullpen. He said he was anxious to determine the cause of his wildness. He has walked 48 batters in 46 innings this season.

Speck Sentenced To Die In Chair; Plea Automatic

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Richard Speck, sentenced to die for the massacre of eight nurses, was at a diagnostic center for processing today before being transferred to Stateville Prison.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen Monday sentenced Speck to the electric chair Sept. 1.

An appeal to the State Supreme Court is automatic in capital punishment cases in Illinois.

Speck was convicted April 15 in Circuit Court in Peoria of murdering the eight nurses who were stabbed or strangled July 14, 1966, in their townhouse dormitory in Chicago.

At his court hearing in Peoria Monday, Speck listened with no show of emotion as Judge Paschen intoned the death sentence.

Speck's only comment was muttered to Sheriff Willard Koeppel of Peoria County as Speck was led from the courtroom.

"You can't win them all," Speck said.

Two Ohio Boys Okay After Near Fatal Accident

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP) — Two 14-year-old Cleveland-area boys awoke today in comfortable hospital beds, a far cry from the load of lumber which came close to crushing them to death the previous morning.

John Lowery of Cleveland and Robert Schroeder of Lakewood are recuperating in Aliquippa Hospital from minor leg injuries after being plucked from a railroad car by two sharp — eared policemen patrolling a siding in the pre-dawn darkness Monday.

"I heard a faint cry for help," said patrolman Morry Mike. "We listened and I heard it again. I don't know how with all that noise from the Jones and Laughlin steel mill."

"We put our spotlight on the cars and saw their hand sticking out a gondola.

"We hurried over and found the kids pinned under the lumber. And you know what the one boy said to me? 'Would you hold my hand? I'm scared.'"

"And I says, 'You better believe I will.'"

An hour later police had pulled the youths free.

The youths left home Sunday and hopped the freight in Youngstown. They hid in a narrow opening in front of the car.

"The railroad inspector told me that if that train had started up again, the boys would have been crushed to death by the jerking of the train," Mike said. "All the lumber in the car would have piled on top of them.

"I think those boys have learned a lesson."

Van Rams Tree At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A Barberton man was cited for driving with defective brakes Monday when his rented van went out of control and struck a tree while trying to avoid a halted auto.

Don Milton Ogden, 39, was eastbound on E. Main St. when he came upon a 1964 sedan operated by Theda W. Madison, 33, of 300 Jefferson St., which had stopped to permit a large steel truck coming in the opposite direction to pass.

The truck went right of the car and smashed into a large maple tree before coming to rest against the car. The rig was badly damaged and had to be towed.

Owner of the rig is the Third St. Leasing Co. of Canton. Ogden was driving for the Roberts Motor Lines in Akron and was bound for Wellsville.

There were no injuries.

Man Gets 1-20 Years In Manslaughter Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—John J. Socotch, 43, was sentenced in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Monday to 1-to-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary on his first - degree manslaughter conviction.

He was charged with the Oct. 9, 1965, shooting of Carrie Burgess, 33, a divorcee who was shot in her apartment in a building owned by Socotch.

Former Army coach Earl (Red) Blaik calls Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi "a demanding fundamentalist."

Compensation Case Presented

LISBON — A Greenford man's lawsuit for the right to participate in the state workmen's compensation fund is being heard a Common Pleas Court jury. Judge Joel H. Sharp is presiding.

Robert McLemore claims a back injury he received June 7, 1957, while lifting 200-pound sinks at the Eljer Co. in Salem led to a coronary occlusion in 1963.

He brought the case to Common Pleas Court on appeal from a decision of the Canton regional board of review.

The jurors are Ernest Kornbau, Violet Taugher, Frederick Bruckner, Edward Mozina and Myron Washill, Salem; Sarah Moss, Sue Clutter and Josephine Hoon, East Liverpool; Betty Madden, Alice Coleman and Dolores Whiteman, Wellsville, and Rodger Headley, Hanoverton. The alternate is Harry Thompson, Salem.

A Year
In Your Own
Family Business

We are looking for a husband and wife team in this area interested in establishing their own business—without financial risk. The husband would retain his present job while the business gets started, and assist his wife in his spare time. Without the need for an office, this is a business a wife can run with just occasional help from her husband. A business that can increase your family income immediately, and earn $10,000 to $15,000 a year or more when developed.
The business? A family-owned distributorship for Vanda Cosmetics Company, an affiliate of Tupperware, a division of the $500 million Rexall Drug and Chemical Company.
WE TRAIN YOU
No business or cosmetics experience is required. We train you. Energy, ambition and willingness to work are the qualities we seek. Our program is complete—to the smallest detail—easy to follow, and provided to you at no cost. We use the most modern training methods and visual aids—and we bring the training to you. Our experienced management counselors will personally work with you to establish your business. Our philosophy is to provide constant personal guidance and assistance as your business grows. There is an opening in this area. If you are anxious to build a profitable business for your family, write today and please include information about both of you. We will send complete details, at no obligation to you, via air mail. Write to Dick Bartlett, Vice President, Vanda Cosmetics Company, Orlando, Florida.

14 BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Earn

A Year
Family Business

We are looking for a husband and wife team in this area interested in establishing their own business—without financial risk. The husband would retain his present job while the business gets started, and assist his wife in his spare time. Without the need for an office, this is a business a wife can run with just occasional help from her husband. A business that can increase your family income immediately, and earn $10,000 to $15,000 a year or more when developed.
The business? A family-owned distributorship for Vanda Cosmetics Company, an affiliate of Tupperware, a division of the $500 million Rexall Drug and Chemical Company.
WE TRAIN YOU
No business or cosmetics experience is required. We train you. Energy, ambition and willingness to work are the qualities we seek. Our program is complete—to the smallest detail—easy to follow, and provided to you at no cost. We use the most modern training methods and visual aids—and we bring the training to you. Our experienced management counselors will personally work with you to establish your business. Our philosophy is to provide constant personal guidance and assistance as your business grows. There is an opening in this area. If you are anxious to build a profitable business for your family, write today and please include information about both of you. We will send complete details, at no obligation to you, via air mail. Write to Dick Bartlett, Vice President, Vanda Cosmetics Company, Orlando, Florida.

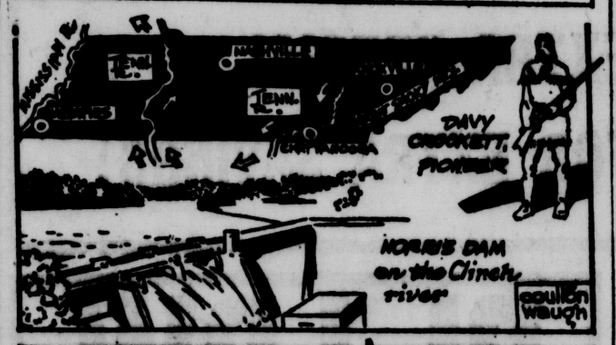
Junior Editors Quiz on TENNESSEE



QUESTION: Why is Tennessee called the Volunteer State?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Tennessee is a romantic state, picturesque both in its terrain and in its history. The name comes from Tanasie, a settlement of the Cherokee Indians. To the east, the state joins the Great Smoky Mountain region, famous for remarkable scenery. Here, many of the folk songs we hear were first collected. In the east, too, rises the Tennessee River, which flows down out of the state, then back up again, crossing Tennessee and finally joining the Mississippi. This river valley is the site of T.V.A., the Tennessee Valley Authority. Over 20 dams control the water, preventing floods, creating electric power which is used for many important purposes. Because of the strange bend of the river, Tennessee is sometimes called the Big Bend State. Its other nickname is the Volunteer State. This came because the hardy men of Tennessee, used to pioneering and deadly shots with their long rifles, enlisted in unusual numbers in the War of 1812 and in the Mexican War. There were more than twice the number asked for, in both cases.

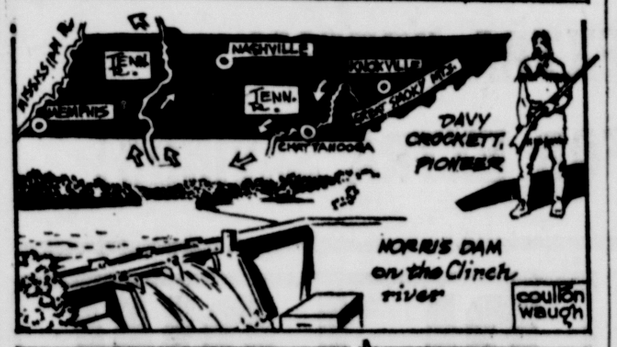
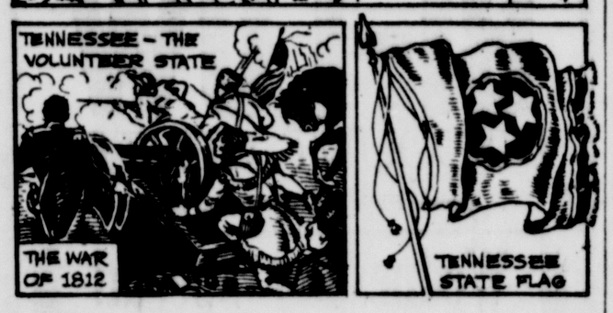
Junior Editors Quiz on TENNESSEE





QUESTION: Why is Tennessee called the Volunteer State?

ANSWER: Tennessee is a romantic state, picturesque both in its terrain and in its history. The name comes from Tanasie, a settlement of the Cherokee Indians. To the east, the state joins the Great Smoky Mountain region, famous for remarkable scenery. Here, many of the folk songs we hear were first collected. In the east, too, rises the Tennessee River, which flows down out of the state, then back up again, crossing Tennessee and finally joining the Mississippi. This river valley is the site of T.V.A., the Tennessee Valley Authority. Over 20 dams control the water, preventing floods, creating electric power which is used for many important purposes. Because of the strange bend of the river, Tennessee is sometimes called the Big Bend State. Its other nickname is the Volunteer State. This came because the hardy men of Tennessee, used to pioneering and deadly shots with their long rifles, enlisted in unusual numbers in the War of 1812 and in the Mexican War. There were more than twice the number asked for, in both cases.
